Ford, Hirohito hold conference

TOKYO (AP) — President Ford began the first American presidential visit to Japan today by meeting with Emperor Hirohito and assuring Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka that Japan can count on "a stable supply of agricultural imports from the United States."

Ford invited the emperor to visit the United States next year, renewing an invitation first extended three years ago, and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told a news conference the invitation was accepted.

Ford's talk with Tanaka and other high-ranking Japanese officials also dealt with the locally touchy question of nuclear weapons aboard U.S. Navy ships visiting Japanese ports, the global oil situation and U.S. relations with China and the Soviet Union.

Kissinger said Ford expressed his desire to maintain a steady flow of U.S. agricultural shipments to Japan. The flow was disturbed last year when President Nixon temporarily imposed an embargo on soybean exports, a major source of protein in the Japanese diet.

The secretary of state said the President also "expressed his understanding for the special sensitivities" of the Japanese about nuclear weapons.

Nuclear weapons are barred from Japanese territory, and Tanaka's

Arab terrorists slain, mutilated

By The Associated Press

Israeli troops killed four Arab terrorists holding about 75 men, women and children captive in an apartment building today, and enraged townspeople threw the guerrillas' bodies from the windows and set fire to them.

Police and soldiers watched as one corpse burned, and the mob shouted: "Another one! Another one! Death to terrorists!"

The Israeli military command said three of the residents of the building, a man and two women, were also killed in the shooting in Beit Shean, a town of 20,000 people 15 miles south of the Sea of Galilee and four miles from the Jordanian border.

Residents of the town said 18 Israelis were injured. Many were children who leaped from windows in the four-story building.

There were no casualties among the troops and police, the military command said.

A command spokesman said it could not be determined yet whether the three Israelis were killed by the terrorists or hit in the crossfire when the troops recaptured the building. But unconfirmed reports from the scene said one woman was dead an hour before the soldiers went into action.

The Popular Democratic Front, a Marxist Palestinian guerrilla group, announced in Damascus that the raiders were members of the Front and their purpose was to force Israel to release 13 guerrillas and the Greek Catholic archbishop of Jerusalem, Msgr. Hilarion Capudji, who is charged with smuggling arms to Arab terrorists.

The guerrilla announcement said the raiders were members of the Popular Democratic Front's "Tiberias unit," a claim that they came from within Israel and not from Lebanon, Syria or

Ohio weathering recession well

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is not a job hunter's paradise, but a higher percentage of Ohioans are employed than across the nation, statistics from the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services showed.

The state unadjusted seasonal employment rate for October is expected to be near September's 4.4 per cent, William Papier, director of research and statistics for the bureau, said. This figure, the probable state low for 1974, is well below the national average for the same period of 5.7 per cent. Ohio's October figures won't be compiled until late this month, he said.

Since September, however, thousands of Ohioans have been laid off because of the slump in automotive sales and the coal strike.

General Motors Corp. alone, one of the largest manufacturing employers in Ohio, has laid off more than 8 per cent of its 110,000 workers in the state.

And the United Mine Workers strike has idled 12,000 coal and related-industry workers throughout the state. Papier said that Ohio's low unemployment rate is "attributable to the composition of industry in Ohio. Ohio is fortunate in having some industries that are still going strong, and of the industries most seriously affected, we don't have too many employees in them," he said.

"Ohio normally is not as seriously affected by recessions as is the nation as a whole unless or until the recession tends to be very severe," Papier said recently.

"We have had counteracting trends in this state for a number of years," he said. For example, Papier pointed out, factory employment has decreased 1.1 per cent over a year ago, but non-manufacturing employment has increased 3.4 per cent in the same period.

"One more than offsets the other," Papier said.

Seven out of 10 jobs in Ohio are held by workers employed in the eight large metropolitan areas of Ohio, Papier said. All eight areas show unemployment rates below the national average, he said.

Bureau statistics showed the following September percentage figures of unemployment rates for the major metropolitan areas in the state: Akron, 3.5; Canton, 3.5; Cincinnati, 5.3; Cleveland, 4.7; Columbus, 3.5; Dayton, 3.7; Toledo, 4.7; and Youngstown-Warren, 4.2.

Papier said the rural areas have a "limited effect" on the statewide figures. But he guessed that most of the state's 88 counties were under the national average.

"Ohio shows better than the national picture," Papier said, "but it remains to be seen whether this pattern will continue."

Among the major metropolitan areas, Cincinnati's unemployment rate of 5.3 per cent for September was the highest in the state. However, the estimated number of jobless persons in the area dropped 1,000 persons to 31,800 and overall employment actually rose from 560,400 in August to a September total of 562,500, bureau statistics showed.

Indications of deepening economic slump reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government figures have signaled a deeper slump ahead for the home building industry, and auto and steelmakers warn of production cutbacks that will trigger more unemployment.

The Commerce Department reported Monday that the number of new houses started by builders dropped for the fourth consecutive month during October to a total of 1.124 million units at an annual rate. The rate was off by seven-tenths of 1 per cent from September and marked the latest in what has been a steady home building decline from 1972.

At the same time, the number of building permits issued during the month totaled the equivalent of 802,000 units, the lowest since December, 1966, when 743,000 permits were handed out. Permit issuances usually anticipate new starts by from three to six months.

indicating a further deterioration in the home building industry.

Meanwhile, plans for "substantial plant closing" in December were announced by the Chrysler Corp. Its chairman, Lynn Townsend, blamed the cutback on poor car sales, but said there will be no "company-wide shutdown."

Townsend said there would be many additional layoffs in the coming two months as Chrysler trims 50,000 cars from its fourth-quarter production schedule. Some 26,600 Chrysler workers were on layoffs this week from a blue-collar workforce of about 100,000.

In the steel industry, the nation's two largest producers announced steps to cut production in anticipation of the coal miners' strike lasting at least three weeks.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steelmaker, said it would start shutting down entire plants if miners do not return to work by Dec. 1.

It reduced raw steel production by 25 per cent last week and curtailed hot metal production by 30 per cent, banking 17 blast furnaces and furloughing 13,700 workers.

Tapes bare Nixon's coverup involvement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate cover-up trial is hearing the last major prosecution witness, White House tapes on which Richard M. Nixon discussed offering clemency to E. Howard Hunt Jr. and also was told "the only White House guilt, culpability, is in the cover-up."

Four conversations never before publicly disclosed were played at the trial Monday. Prosecutor James F. Neal said tapes of 15 more conversations would be played before the prosecution completed its case on Thursday.

Two of the tapes played Monday were of conversations between Nixon and Charles W. Colson: a meeting on Jan. 8, 1973, and a telephone call on March 21, 1973.

The other two were meetings between Nixon and H.R. Haldeman, then White House staff chief, on March 20 and 22, 1973.

Haldeman, former White House John D. Ehrlichman, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, ex-assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian, and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee, are charged with conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

The grand jury that returned the indictment on March 1, 1974, named then President Nixon an indicted co-conspirator. Ehrlichman has subpoenaed Nixon to testify at the trial. A spokesman for the former president said Monday Nixon will not object to being examined by a panel of three court-appointed physicians to determine whether he's healthy enough to testify.

Nixon and Colson discussed clemency for Hunt on Jan. 8, 1973, the day former CIA agent Hunt went on trial for the Watergate burglary.

"Hunt's is a simple case," said Nixon. "... We'll build that son-of-a-bitch up like nobody's business. We'll have Buckley write a column and say, you know, that he, that he should have

Full-time emergency room doctor OK'd for hospital

Fayette County Memorial Hospital will have a physician in the emergency room 24 hours per day, seven days a week, according to Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator.

Kunz made the announcement Tuesday morning following the regular meeting of the hospital board of trustees Monday night.

The hospital board felt the move was necessary because of the great amount of work done in the emergency room. Kunz said that by the end of the year nearly 15,000 persons will have received emergency treatment during 1974.

In order to ease the financial burden on the hospital, a 298-acre farm owned by the hospital will be sold at auction. The board transferred to the general fund almost $8,000 for the final payment on the hospital's new boilers and $1,260 for the new coronary care equipment.

STATISTICS for the month of October were reviewed. There were 385 admissions, 2,139 in-patient days, 68 births and 222 days of hospitalization for newborns.

The hospital operated at an average of 79.31 capacity with an 80.70 per cent average capacity in the medical and surgical division.

The average length of stay for all patients was 5.61 days and 6.42 days in medical and surgical cases.

There were 862 X-rays taken, 5,963 laboratory test performed, 266

physical therapy treatments, and 650 inhalation treatments.

The hospital performed 89 major surgeries, 85 minor surgeries, and treated 1,249 persons in the emergency room.

The total revenue collected during the first 10 months of the year showed an average of $80.88 per patient day. The budget had estimated $72.24, and the national average is $104.49.

Actual hospital expenditures for the year have averaged $82.03 per patient day. The budget called for expenses of $74.91, and the national average is $103.

Total receipts per admission have averaged $486.12, the budget estimated $466.63, and the national average is $766.76.

Jury selection continues for burglary trial here

The Fayette County Common Pleas Court adjourned at 4 p.m. Monday without having yet seated a jury. The questioning of prospective jurors continued Tuesday morning and seating a final panel is expected before noon.

The trial concerns multiple theft-related offenses against Paul R. Spence, 36, Columbus, James R. Forsythe, 33, of 703 E. Paint St., and Stanley Bellar, Columbus. The three are charged with alleged burglaries at the Washington C.H. Elks lodge, 222 N. Main St., and Associated Plumbers and Heaters, CCC Highway-W, on Sept. 13 and 14.

OF THE nearly 100 prospective jurors summoned for possible jury service, 30 were asked to return Tuesday for the seating of the final 12. As the candidates for jury duty were released Monday, Judge Evelyn W. Coffman again cautioned them not to read accounts of the trial proceedings in the newspaper.

After the jury was dismissed, Columbus attorneys Daniel Conner and John Conners and Fayette County prosecuting attorneys James A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann met in chambers with acting Common Pleas Court Judge Rollo Marchant to argue a defense motion for suppression of evidence.

Conner had requested the hearing to determine the validity of the search warrant used to obtain evidence from an automobile owned by Spence, one of the defendants. He argued that the warrant was not legally executed and that all evidence obtained through the use of the warrant should be suppressed and thus not used in the state's case.

Judge Marchant heard the testimony and arguments on the motion because Judge Coffman had authorized the warrant and was called to testify at the hearing.

He returned a decision to uphold the motion Tuesday morning. Judge Marchant ruled that the testimony of the witnesses at the hearing did not show probable cause.

According to the Ohio Rules of Criminal Procedure pertaining to the issuance of search warrants, a search warrant can only be issued if the warrant names the property to be seized and facts indicating that there is evidence that the property be found in the place to be searched.

These requirements were not met in the issuing of the warrant to search Spence's car, the judge said. He added that he noticed six other points which might be in error in the issuing of the warrant, but he did not find it necessary to rule on the other issues.

In sustaining the motion, the judge ruled that nothing which may have been found as a result of the illegal search could be used as evidence in the pending case. He added that the prosecution might have a right to appeal his ruling.

Conner had argued that officers who arrested Spence outside the Elks lodge had no reason to believe that anything had been taken from the lodge. In fact, he said, they were in an excellent position to know that nothing had been taken and placed in the car.

He noted that no property from the Elks lodge had been found in the car.

ONE OF the points brought out by Conner at the hearing on which Judge Marchant did not rule concerned the filing of the warrant with the clerk of courts.

According to law, after execution of the warrant, the judge who issued it (Judge Coffman) must file it with the clerk. Judge Coffman testified that although the warrant had been filed, she had not done it herself.

Another hearing on a defense motion was held in chambers Tuesday morning. The matter related to the defendant's protection from self-incrimination.

Pioneer 11 to face heavy radiation from Jupiter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer 11 will face a greater radiation danger than any previous spacecraft when it sweeps within 26,600 miles of Jupiter on Dec. 3, project officials report.

The robot explorer could be damaged so severely that it would be unable to carry out the second phase of its long interplanetary journey, a dash across the solar system to a 1979 rendezvous with Saturn.

"The radiation counts will probably soar at a pace that will scare us half to death just before closest approach," said B. J. O'Brien, Pioneer project manager at TRW Inc., which built the satellite for NASA.

Launched 20 months ago, Pioneer 11 is following a path blazed by its twin, Pioneer 10, a year ago. Pioneer 10 zipped 82,000 miles above Jupiter and its cameras and instruments provided science with startling new facts about the colossus of planets.

The newest probe will scout a different region of the planet, including the north and south poles.

"The experimenters measured a lot of intense radiation last year with Pioneer 10," said O'Brien. "This time the spacecraft is going three times closer. The closer you get to the planet, the more a given particle's energy climbs."

Fortunately, much of Pioneer 11's photographic and other investigative work will be completed by the time it hits the heavy portion of the Jovian radiation belt.

"If we hear nothing after it passes through, sure we'll be disappointed; we'll have missed the bonus," O'Brien said. "But we will have achieved our basic objectives — to see new faces of Jupiter, get a different cut through the radiation belts. We'll know more about how to design the next spacecraft so it can survive a passage that close to the planet."

The bonus he referred to is Saturn. That originally was not part of the flight plan. But scientists since have discovered a unique way to use the gravity of field of Jupiter to hurl Pioneer 11, slingshot fashion, on to Saturn.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Carrie M. Smalley

GREENFIELD — Mrs. Carrie Mae Smalley, 86, of 957 North St., Greenfield, died at 4 p.m. Monday in Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington C.H. Born in Millersburg, Ky., Mrs. Smalley was a retired school teacher and a member of the Greenfield Church of Christ. Her husband, Ralph, preceded her in death.

She is survived by a brother, Leonard Wood, Paris, Ky., and several nieces and nephews, including Mrs. Charles (Ruby) Huffman, 903 S. North St., Washington C.H.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday in the Anderson-Struvee Funeral Home, Greenfield, with the Rev. Danny Dodds officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 4 until 9 p.m. Wednesday.

MRS. FAITHE L. KELLY — Services for Mrs. Faithe L. Kelly, 81, of 126 W. Elm St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in Washington C.H. with the Rev. Mark Dove officiating. Mrs. Kelly, the widow of Fred Kelly, died Thursday. Pallbearers for burial in Washington Cemetery were Fred, Mike, and Robert Kelly, Gene White, James Croker and Larry Oberschlake.

Saxbe clashes with Kelley on FBI role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe has refused to go along with an FBI request for legislation authorizing emergency "dirty tricks" against domestic political organizations.

The split between Saxbe and FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley surfaced at a news conference Monday as the attorney general denounced the disruptive tactics employed in FBI counterintelligence operations for 15 years ending in 1971.

Saxbe said he has taken steps to prevent a repetition of such tactics. But he indicated that he leans against any legislation forbidding them outright.

Instead, Saxbe urged Congress to create a joint House-Senate committee to monitor the daily operations of the FBI. "I think this is one of the greatest safeguards that we could have in this country," he asserted.

Emphasizing a different objective, Kelley asked for legislation to permit the FBI "under emergency situations, to do some things which counteract the effectiveness" of militant groups at the extremes of the political spectrum.

Kelley has been pushing the proposal for almost a year but the Justice Department has refused to adopt it.

Saxbe and Kelley also differed in their appraisal of the tactics launched by the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover against the Communist Party U.S.A., the Socialist Workers party, "black extremist" groups, "white hate" groups and the New Left.

Saxbe said he considers it improper for the FBI to engage in "positive disruptive activities" against domestic organizations in any circumstances.

The counterintelligence program "in my mind, is not something that we in a free society should condone," he continued. "I'm not here to try to justify the activities that went on under this."

But Kelley gave a resounding defense of the operation. He said he is convinced that FBI employes "acted entirely in good faith and within the bounds of what was expected of them by the President, the attorney general, the Congress and the American people."

On the other hand, Saxbe and Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen said FBI officials may have violated the law with some of the disruptive tactics.

Recession

The director of economic research for the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce said the high rate of unemployment for that period was a result of the national economic scene and a local 72-day construction industry strike.

Larry McLaughlin said, "Quite a few people (were) laid off because of the strike, nearly 5,000 in the greater Cincinnati area."

The largest metropolitan area in the state, Cleveland, also showed a drop in its unemployment level from August to September, down 3 per cent to 4.7 per cent of the civilian labor force.

Richard Adler, spokesman for the Greater Cleveland Growth Association, said however, he expects October jobless rates for the area to be over 5 per cent and to rise higher again in November.

Adler said the effects of inflation and the coal strike are yet to be felt. "I think we can survive a short strike without serious effect," he said, "but I emphasize only a very short strike."

The vice president of research for the Columbus Chamber of Commerce attributed the low local unemployment rate of 3.5 per cent for September to the diversity of industry and employment in Franklin County.

James R. Thomas said, "The kinds of employment we have is not as subject to fluctuations as much as the rest of the country."

Newton A. Brokaw, the executive director of the Columbus Industrial Association, said only a few area industries have announced layoffs so far. Brokaw said he expects the Columbus area to fare "very well indeed in a tough economic situation" as a major distribution center.

Chamber chief backs Ford plan

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States said that while he generally approves of President Ford's program to halt inflation, he would urge the chief executive to spend more time selling it.

Arch Booth, here for a two-day conference with regional business leaders, also said the greatest danger which exists now that the recessions has been defined is for Congress to become panicky.

"To enact what we call anti-recessionary measures—that is to prime the pump—would produce short-term solutions, but they would be very limited ones," Booth told a news conference Monday.

"It would only make greater the already immense problem of inflation." The cure can come only at the

Tax reform bill may be delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conceding there is little hope Congress will pass major tax revisions this year, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills said next year's new Congress probably will take up such a bill as a first order of business.

The House Ways and Means Committee, chaired by Mills, resumed work Monday on the legislation to increase taxes on oil companies and lower them for average taxpayers.

The committee is expected to approve some type of slimmeddown bill in a bid to have something to show for government was acutely embarrassed when a retired American admiral told a U.S. congressional committee earlier this year that American navy ships visiting foreign ports did not unload their nuclear weapons.

Kissinger said any special questions arising in the nuclear area would be handled by him and Foreign Minister Toshio Kimura.

Ford also gave Tanaka and his colleagues a preview of his meeting in Vladivostok next weekend with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. Kissinger, who will go to Peking from Vladivostok, said he would stop in Tokyo next week to tell the Japanese leaders about the meeting with Brezhnev and his talks with the Chinese.

The meeting between Ford and the emperor — to the strains of the University of Michigan fight song — was the first between a Japanese ruler and an American president on Japanese soil. Though entirely symbolic, Kissinger said it was the part of Ford's visit that "has meaning to the Japanese people," an indication that it was considered the most significant part of the visit.

Ford, looking uncomfortable in cutaway and striped trousers that were a bit too short for him, received the emperor at the Akasaka state guest palace where the President is staying.

After the two stood at attention for the playing of their national anthems, they met the Tokyo diplomatic corps and reviewed an honor guard in the cobblestoned palace courtyard.

It was then that the Japanese military band struck up Michigan's "Hail to the Victors," which the former Michigan football star often has played instead of "Hail to the Chief" during his appearances in the United States.

The stooped, bespectacled emperor, who is 73, then took Ford for a 10-minute drive to the Imperial Palace where the President met Empress Nagako and had a private chat with the couple.

By custom, the emperor does not discuss politics or give opinions when meeting with foreign leaders. His talk with Ford was strictly a protocol event.

Due to the massive security screen to protect the President from leftist demonstrators and a 24-hour transportation strike that was in part a demonstration, there were few crowds in evidence along the route of the motorcade.

But Ford threw his Japanese bodyguards and U.S. Secret Service agents into brief confusion when he abruptly halted his car after leaving the palace and got out to shake hands with some of the 2,000 flag-waving Japanese on the street.

The President went from the palace to a two-hour conference with Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka and high-ranking U.S. and Japanese officials. Kissinger scheduled a series of private sessions with Japanese policy makers.

Philippine ambassador freed after talks with gun-wielder

WASHINGTON (AP) — A father seeking the release of his son from the Philippines held the Philippine ambassador and a wounded aide hostage for almost 12 hours before throwing down his gun and surrendering.

Napoleon Lechoco tossed the weapon from a second floor window of the Philippine chancery about 2 a.m. today and surrendered peacefully after receiving word that his son, who he claimed had been prevented from joining the rest of the family here, had left the Philippines by airliner.

"Mr. Lechoco felt he had accomplished what he set out to do," said embassy spokesman R.V. Cruz.

Lechoco was taken into custody by FBI agents, and an official said he would be arraigned today on charges of assaulting a diplomatic officer.

Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos had sent his personal assurances to the embassy here that Napoleon Lechoco Jr., 24, would be allowed to leave if his father would free the hostages.

The father said he would release Eduardo Z. Romualdez and his economic attache two hours after his son was airborne, and on the appointed hour the surrender took place, Philippine diplomat Jose Naldo said.

In Manila, authorities said the son several months of work on tax revision proposals. But congressional sources said there was virtually no chance such legislation could be cleared by both House and Senate this year.

Mills originally wanted the committee to produce a streamlined package of tax changes to offer for House action next week. But he said Monday there is no hope of gaining a House decision that quickly on the complex matter.

Mills suggested ending the oil depletion allowance on Jan. 1, 1975, instead of phasing it out by 1979, as the committee decided previously. The allowance saves oilmen between $2 billion and $3 billion a year in federal taxes.

The panel's staff experts suggested these features could be put into a slimmed-down bill: a temporary excise tax on windfall profits of petroleum producers, the end of the depletion allowance, a boost in the investment credit for some public utilities, a series of changes in foreign income features of U.S. tax law, and some tax cuts for average Americans.

The tax cuts would include increasing the maximum standard deduction, used by taxpayers who do not itemize on their return, from $2,000 to $2,500 and boosting the minimum standard deduction that benefits low-income persons from $1,300 to $1,600 for singles and to $1,900 for couples.

council resumes talks on a proposed contract today, but there were indications that negotiations between the union and industry may be reopened because of reported dissatisfaction among union officials over the tentative settlement.

Bethlehem Steel Corp., the No. 2 producer, said it is banking four coke batteries at its Sparrows Point, Md., plant and is laying off 175 of its 22,000 workers there.

In another economic development, the Federal Reserve Board confirmed it began easing restraints on the nation's money supply in August. A report showed that the Fed then targeted money supply growth at from 4.75 per cent to 6.75 per cent. The figure represented an increase from the previous month's target growth of from 2 to 6 per cent.

Townpeople said the terrorists seized the apartment house about 5 a.m., throwing hand grenades and shooting bursts of submachine-gun fire as they broke in. Troops and police units rushed to the scene, sealed off the area but did not attack for more than three hours.

Meanwhile, shooting and explosions were heard inside the building. Residents of the town, which once was a frequent target for artillery fire from Jordan, took cover in air raid shelters.

After the soldiers shot their way into the building and killed the Arabs, hundreds of furious townspeople swarmed in and grabbed the four corpses.

The mob threw the bodies from the windows of a third-floor room stained with blood and pitted by bullets. Screaming men set fire to three of the corpses before police and troops rescued them from the crowd and loaded them into a car.

Then the angry mob turned on newsmen and photographers and beat them for taking pictures of the scene.

was en route to the United States. They said he was picked up early Tuesday from the home of his grandfather in neighboring Quezon City.

Gary R. Alexander, Lechoco's lawyer, said Marcos had assured that young Lechoco would "receive immediate and safe release and conduct to the United States on the first available flight."

Romualdez was released unharmed, but the attache, Mario Lagdameo, had a deep flesh wound which doctors at George Washington University Hospital said was caused by a gunshot.

Naldo said Lagdameo, who holds a black belt in karate, was wounded when he tried to wrestle with Lechoco. He said the three men spent most of the siege lying on the floor of Romualdez's office because Lechoco feared the possibility of sniper shots through the windows.

Negotiations prior to the surrender had been going on since shortly after Lechoco took the two men hostages around 3 p.m. EST Monday. Police quickly made telephone contact with Lechoco, and FBI agents entered the house.

Lechoco's wife was taken to the embassy to relay the Philippine offer directly to her husband, including news that the son would be freed when the hostages were released.

source, he said, by ending deficit spending by the government.

Booth predicted the recession will continue in the United States into mid-1975.

"The fires of inflation will burn through mid-1975, and they may go on for a short time after that. I believe, however, that those fires will eventually burn themselves out," he said.

"When interest rates drop to 7 and 8 per cent, I think you will see a revitalization of consumer confidence and people will begin to buy more."

Booth said he has some indicators that the recession is already starting to weaken. Underlying prices on such commodities as copper, tin, wool and cotton are falling slightly. This should soon be reflected in prices like clothing, he said.

"The fact that there is still fluctuation shows that our economy still works," Booth said.

The national chamber generally supports President Ford's 10-point "Whip Inflation Now" (WIN) program, Booth said. But he added that it would be a mistake to tell people not to buy.

"I only wish the President would find more time to sell some of his recommendations," Booth said, declining to criticize the President's trip to Japan. But he added he would "rather see the President in Washington at this time."

Booth said one key way the President could convey his message would be to seek more time on television networks to explain the facts about the energy shortage and inflation.

"Communication is a key part of this effort. The American people are ready and willing to join in this fight against recession," Booth said.

clemency, if you've given 18 years of service ... That's it. It's on the merits."

Columnist William F. Buckley is a long-time friend of Hunt's and at one time served in the CIA with him.

Buckley said Monday in an interview, "I don't need to be reminded to write a column urging clemency even for sons-of-bitches, as Mr. Nixon should know from personal experience."

During that same discussion Haldeman and Nixon expressed concern that Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy director of the Committee to Re-elect the President, would break under pressure. On the other hand, said Haldeman, he wouldn't worry about Gordon Strachan, one of his aides in the White House.

"A hell of a guy," said Nixon.

They discussed Dean's theory that they try to protect the White House staff from Watergate disclosures, "draw the wagons around the White House."

"Who do you let down the tube?" asked Nixon. "Do you let Magruder down?"

"You don't intentionally," replied Haldeman. "You leave Magruder — what you do is, you see, we're, we're doing stuff now. We're keeping quiet and, and, uh, a, that ... just try and cov — and, and putting up this money and, and everything else. ## Stock list levels off

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market added to its recent losses today but seemed to have leveled off by midday.

Personnel matters handled by board

The Washington C.H. Board of Education met in a brief session Monday night and considered a number of personnel matters.

The board accepted with regret the resignations of Mrs. Barbara Leggett, a longtime teacher's aide, and Norman Aills, attendance officer. Mrs. Carol Aills was then employed to replace her husband in the position as attendance officer.

The board approved a new contract for Ralph Lawson, custodian at Washington Senior High School. He will be working as daytime custodian in the future.

Mrs. Yvonne Foster was employed as a substitute teacher for grades one through six, effective Jan. 1.

SUPERINTENDENT Edwin M. Nestor reported on three meetings held with members of the City Teachers Association. He said that he had explained to the CTA that the board would do everything in its power to provide as large an increase in salaries as possible. However, he reported that he had also explained that with the rising costs of supplies, services and utilities it was difficult to trim elsewhere in the budget in order to provide additional funds.

He added that the Ohio legislature was now working on a new tax formula for the determination of state support to local school district, and although he hoped that this new formula would provide additional money. It would be impossible to be sure until the measure had been approved by the legislature.

The board approved reimbursement for two faculty members who had attended professional meetings and approved for reimbursement three college-level courses to be taken by faculty members.

It was noted during the meeting that an open house will be held Thursday at Washington Senior High School.

Four mishaps investigated

A Washington C. H. woman was cited for a traffic offense Monday by city police and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated an accident in which a wagon separated from the tractor pulling it and crashed. Police also reported two additional Monday mishaps.

A rear-end collision involving cars driven by George H. Wonderleigh, 45, of 222 Fairview Ave. and Mabel L. VanPelt, 58, of 210 E. Elm St., occurred at the intersection of W. Court and Main streets at 6:29 p.m. Monday.

Washington C. H. police cited Ms. VanPelt for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

A wagon containing shelled corn was heavily damaged when it became unhitched from the tractor pulling it, driven by Paul J. Adams Jr., 19, Rowe Ging Road, at 6 p.m. Monday.

The incident occurred on Ohio 41, seven-tenths of a mile south of Elm Street. The wagon rolled left of center and off the left side of the road where it collided with a guardrail and overturned against a light pole. Adams was not hurt in the accident.

A car belonging to John D. Baker II, Rt. 4, was moderately damaged by a hit-skip driver while it was parked in the Pennington Bakery parking lot on the CCC-Highway-W from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday.

Washington C. H. police are seeking the unidentified driver.

A car driven by Dorothy M. Angeletti, 19, of 213 Central Place, struck a parked car belonging to Anna Wilt, of 412 Clyburn Ave., at K-Mart, Columbus Avenue, at 5:16 p.m. Monday, police reported.

City zoners eye variance request

Members of the Washington C. H. City Zoning Board of Appeals will consider one variance request at the regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the City Office Building.

City Manager Dan Wolford, who serves as secretary of the zoning board of appeals, said the board will consider an application submitted by Jack L. Thompson for the Church of Christ in Christian Union, 424 Gregg St., for a variance to erect a sign in front of the church.

Nursing homes facing deadline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Faced with massive nursing home non-compliance to new fire safety regulations, a Cincinnati legislator has called for the establishment of a watchdog committee to oversee enforcement of the law.

State Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-Cincinnati, said Monday that about 600 of the state's 1,200 nursing homes will not have automatic sprinkling systems installed by the Jan. 1 deadline.

A spokesman for the National Automatic Sprinkler System and Fire Control Association predicted that the suppressant devices would not be installed in all of the remaining homes until the end of next year.

Based on information reported at the 90-minute meeting here, Murdock agreed that, "We'd be lucky to have 100 per cent compliance by the end of the (next) year."

Murdock, the assistant house minority leader, said he felt "very strong about having a watchdog committee" help enforce the law, as an alternative to granting a six-month or one year extension.

Nevertheless if nursing homes should continue to fail to comply with the regulations, officials are limited in the actions they can take, realizing it would be undesirable to shut the homes down and turn away the elderly.

Murdock, who wrote the December 1972 statute, said he would recommend to the General Assembly establishment of a legislative committee to help enforce the law.

The meeting was attended by representatives of state agencies, nursing homes and the fire safety industry.

Several officials, including Murdock, faulted the nursing homes for foot-dragging on installation of the new equipment. The homes have had almost two years to comply with the regulations.

However, state Fire Marshal David A. Lucht placed much of the blame on "hassles" created by conflicting and overlapping federal regulations.

Most of the parties involved in Ohio, he said, "are trying to make the best out of a bad situation."

"I would have to recommend that the (Ohio) law stay as it is... and perhaps establish a watchdog committee."

Prayer breakfast draws 71 teens

Seventy-one teens and five teachers were present for the prayer breakfast at the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday morning.

"How To Know Jesus Better" was the topic for the meditation time led by the Rev. Charles J. Richmond.

Linda Hollingsworth, junior at WSHS, and Marilyn Creamer, sophomore at MTHS, led the group in several choruses. Carmen Frogale, teacher at WSHS, offered prayer for the food.

After breakfast Kevin Blair, senior at WSHS, spoke to the group on the love of God. He then dismissed the session with prayer. The next prayer breakfast will be at 6:45 a.m., Nov. 26 and will follow the Thanksgiving theme.

Purse stolen

A purse containing $15, belonging to Janet West, 117 Lakeview Ave., was stolen from her car while it was parked in the Roller Haven lot, CCC-Highway-W, from 6 p.m. through 10 p.m. Monday.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft.

Opinion And Comment

Democracy needs vitamins

Almost everybody agrees that it's a great national scandal and a reason for deep concern when only 38 per cent of Americans of voting age turn out for state and congressional elections. Many who deplore this on principle seem not to realize, however, what an impact such a showing has on the democratic process.

The effect can be decisive. One of the wire services has come up with a number of examples from the recent elections to illustrate this. In each case, had the voter turnout been higher by a fraction of a percentage point the result might have been different.

Item: With 41 per cent of the state's voting-age residents going to the polls, New Hampshire transformed Rep. Louis Wyman into a senator by a margin of 290 votes out of 221,000 cast.

Item: More than three million votes were cast in Ohio, but that was still only 42 per cent of those eligible. James J. Rhodes was named governor by 10,000 votes after having gone to bed thinking he was defeated.

Item: In Oklahoma a 43 per cent

turnout made the total vote 800,000. A 3,000-vote edge kept Henry Bellmon in the Senate.

In each of these instances, it was the Republican candidate who won by a small majority. That is significant because this was clearly a Democratic year, making it likely that there had been a substantially larger number going to the polls the outcome would have been reversed. The Democrats can kick themselves.

We can all kick ourselves, though about that national total of around 38 per cent voting.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . . By Marquis Childs

Ford's pork barrel problems

WASHINGTON — President Ford's candor as he wades into the incredibly difficult task of cutting government spending is admirable. Considering where to use the knife, he confessed that he "sometimes voted to spend more taxpayers' money for worthy projects in Grand Rapids, Mich., while vigorously opposing boondoggles in Oklahoma."

Whacking at the public works pork barrel, the President is discovering just how hard it is to squeeze even modest savings out of the complex of congressional log rolling that promises navigation for Goose Creek in Oklahoma in return for a waterway opening Grand Rapids to the world's commerce. He called for a one-year deferral of public works projects saving $82 million in the current fiscal year.

This was before the election and the screams of pain and rage that went up could be heard from shining sea to shining sea. Mind you, these are deferrals and they can be revoked by action by either house of Congress.

But it is a serious challenge to those whom the President denounced in the campaign as the big spenders. If they will not stand still for this modest cheese-paring, the hope for any agreement between the new top-heavy

Democratic Congress and the Republican President is slight.

In his claim to bite the bullet, Ford might better have cancelled outright 20 boondoggles approved by Congress.

The cost in the current fiscal year is $166 million. But as Elvis J. Stahr, president of the National Audubon Society, a leader in conservation, pointed out, this is only a down payment. The estimated cost of completing these projects is more than 4.9 billion and, if inflation continues at a rate of 10 per cent, it may in five years be $7 billion.

Several of the Ford deferrals are on the list of 20 submitted to the President by the Audubon Society as candidates for economy, among them the Central Arizona project estimated to cost more than $1 billion to complete. The Army Corps of Engineers, those indefatigable diggers that no President has been able to checkmate, and Interior's Bureau of Reclamation account for most of the big spending.

As Stahr pointed out in a letter to the President, too many irrigation projects destroy arable land, waste water and, like too many flood-control projects, artificially stimulate development in the wrong places bringing new pressure for more spending for more flood control.

He cited examples of spending that is not only a waste of money but is demonstrably harmful both ecologically and to farming interests.

Ironically one of the deferred projects was reported to be in the district of a hard-pressed Republican, Rep. Robert B. Mathias, the Olympic decathlon champion, running for a fifth term. The news reports were in error, since the San Luis Canal Central Valley Water Project is in the adjoining district of Rep. B. F. Sisk, a Democrat. Sisk was re-elected with a comfortable majority while Mathias was defeated.

Calling for sacrifice and economy, as he did in his Kansas City speech, the President is beginning to get the brickbats from industries hurting in the recession.

Lynn A. Townsend, chairman of the Chrysler Corporation, said at a press conference that since the President called for saving and belt tightening the sales of autos, the principal item in most household budgets, had dropped sharply. Chrysler lost $8 million in the third quarter.

"He urged people not to buy," said Townsend, "and they're not buying."

This conveniently ignores the fact that the motor manufacturers raised car prices from 12 to 18 per cent with carrying charges proportionately increased. In the face of the swift upward rise in the price of food, clothing, all the basic items in a family budget, that increase was certainly a brake on potential car buyers.

Part of the initiation of a President newly in office is to learn that he must accept the blame for everything, including the weather. This is particularly rough for Ford, since a thousand and one troubles in a time of perennial crisis end up in the oval office.

If it is a test for the President it is also a test for the Congress. And that first small step, halting the flow of federal spending to certain of the Goose Creek of America, should be a signal for cooperation.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Some misleading influences. Watch out for any attempt to break or default on contracts, other agreements.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Some disturbance in career matters could cause you to be unnecessarily abrupt with loved ones. Don't let this happen or you will regret it later.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

If you maneuver skillfully enough, you can gain some advantageous fringe benefits in a business negotiation.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Accent is now on travel. A trip taken in connection with a legal issue could have an especially fortunate outcome.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Some unpredictable associates need watching now. One or the other could try to "muscle in" on one of your pet solo ventures.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

One of those days when a snap decision could turn out surprisingly well. You ordinarily deliberate carefully in all situations, but right now a hunch will pay off.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Introduce a new note — perhaps a new approach — to give more spark to day's doings. Output will substantially improve.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Go after the big gains but do not expect to have things your way all along the line. Be prepared for some opposition and you can meet it more easily.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A tabulation of "musts" may uncover a weak program — one that should be pepped up to show your abilities to better advantage.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Not much planetary help here. How the day turns out will be largely up to yourself. Use your wits to project the effective and eliminate the mediocre.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Look well into proposed suggestions or you may find yourself involved where you least desire it. Some definite "no" answers will be required.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Avoid tendencies toward restlessness and unruliness. Note warning signals. Many errors and misguided moves can thus be averted. Shun extremes.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with both mental alertness and manual dexterity. You have a flair for gracious living and have real know-how when it comes to dealing with people, separately or collectively. You are often called lucky, but your "luck" results from your keen observations, the ability to separate the wheat from the chaff and an instinct for grasping advantages at just the right time. You are extremely versatile and many fields are open to your talents; most notably, however, the worlds of law and statesmanship, business organization, science, music, literature and the theater. Try to curb tendencies to go to extremes.

Find turkey for holiday cheaper

By The Associated Press

Americans trying to fit holiday celebrations into inflation-tight budgets have at least one thing to be thankful for this year: turkey is cheaper than it was in 1973.

An Associated Press survey showed that while the cost of most of the ingredients of a Thanksgiving dinner has gone up, turkey prices have dropped by about 20 cents a pound to an average of 49 to 69 cents.

Poultry producers said the reason for the decline was an abundant supply and they complained they were losing money on their birds.

"We've been losing up to $2 per bird," said Carl Johnson, head of the Wisconsin Turkey Federation. Poultry producers said it costs about 35 cents a pound to raise a turkey. They're getting only about 28 cents a pound.

The rest of the Thanksgiving dinner is more expensive, however.

A comparison of supermarket advertisements in Montgomery County, Md., for November, 1973 and November, 1974 showed bread, used for stuffing, was up from 30 to 48 cents a loaf; fresh cranberries went from 29 to 39 cents a pound.

No women blacks in state assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's new General Assembly, as in past years, has more blacks than women—but no women blacks.

The 111th General Assembly will have the same number of blacks as the 110th and two additional women members, making blacks an 8.3 per cent and women 6.8 per cent minorities.

Ohioans re-elected nine black House members in as many contests Nov. 5, along with both black lawmakers in the Senate. Two black challengers of white incumbents lost.

Rep. M. Joan Douglass, R-61 Mansfield, was defeated in her bid for a second term, but Rep. Donna Pope, R-12 Parma; Irene Smart, D-49 Canton, and Ethen Swanbeck, R-72 Huron, were re-elected.

Four new women join the returnees when the new General Assembly convenes Jan. 6, boosting the House total to seven—the highest total in recent history.

They are Reps.-elect Helen Fix, R-26 Cincinnati; Virginia Aveni, D-17 Lyndhurst in Cuyahoga County; Francine Panehal, D-5 Cleveland, and Irma Karmol, R-44 Toledo.

Among the seven, four are Republicans and three Democrats in a 99-member House that will be dominated 59-40 by Democrats.

In the 33-member Senate, controlled by the Democrats 21-12, there will be two women next time, a loss of one resulting from the defeat of Sen. Clara E. Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton.

Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, was elected to her second four-year term in the Senate, and Sen. Anice W. Johnson, R-18 Aurora, is in the middle of her first term. Valiquette was a chief sponsor of the federal women's Equal Rights Amendment which Ohio ratified early this year.

Two blacks made formidable challenges of white incumbents this year. Republican Akron Councilman Thad Garrett lost to Rep. Pete Crossland, D-42 Akron, in a close contest, and former GOP Rep. David Albritton, a former Ohio State and Olympic track star, narrowly lost to Rep. Edward J. Orlett of Dayton in the 34th House District.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

data on "dats"

DEAR ABBY: Your correspondent was not crazy. There was an article in the newspaper stating that a dog and cat had been mated, and the result was a "dat."

In 1970, a London per shop owner, ROY Tutt, claimed that he had accomplished that which zoologists declared was impossible. He bred "dats" from a black cat and a Scottish terrier. Tutt said they had heads like dogs, but they had fur, whiskers and claws like cats. And he even sent along some "pictures" of the newborn "dats."

Later he was forced to admit that it was all a hoax.

I am a proofreader at the Daily News in Port Angeles, Washington, and am herewith enclosing the article and picture.

DONNA GREIER

DEAR DONNA: Thanks. Your letter was the first I received to document the item. Subsequently, however, it rained cats, dogs and "dats."

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to a professional gambler for 14 years. We used to live in Nevada where gambling was legal, then we moved to a state where gambling is illegal.

My husband operates a respectable cocktail lounge-but he makes his big money running a high-stakes poker game in the back.

Last week the police raided his place. The whole story was in the newspapers, and he showed up on television looking like a common criminal with his jacket in front of his face.

The next day he was back in the gambling business. (He said there had been a "mix-up in the payoff.")

Our two daughters (11 and 12) came home from school crying. They said the kids made fun of them because their father had been arrested. Now they don't want to face their friends at school.

I begged my husband to cut out the gambling business for our daughters' sake. He reminded me that the girls and I had enjoyed lots of luxuries because of his gambling business so we shouldn't complain.

I'd rather have less, and have my husband in a legitimate business. How can I get through to him?

HAT IT IN HOUSTON

DEAR HAT IT: Your husband has a point as far as you're concerned. It's something else with the daughters. You could have settled for less long ago. The girls had no choice. For their sake you should use every means at your disposal to persuade your husband to pocket his deck and go straight.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to the mother who is still nagging her tall 36-year-old daughter to "sit straight:" I think I know the problem. The world is made to accommodate 5'3" to 5'5" women.

That tall daughter should raise her sinks, stove and counter area enough to accommodate her height, and then watch her shoulders move back! It worked for my daughter, and it took only a hike of three inches to do it. I have a smart husband.

DEAR 5'9": A husband who can raise a sink, stove and counter area-and is willing to do it in order to accommodate the tall women in his home is indeed 9 feet tall himself.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 19, the 323rd day of 1974. There are 42 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1863, President Abraham Lincoln delivered his Gettysburg Address.

On this date:

In 1497, the navigator, Vasco da Gama sailed through the passage to India around Africa's Cape of Good Hope.

In 1794, the United States and Britain signed the Jay Treaty, adjusting issues that had not been settled in the Revolutionary War.

In 1831, the 20th American president, James Garfield, was born on a farm near Mentor, Ohio.

In 1874, the National Women's Christian Temperance Union was organized in Cleveland, Ohio, to work for prohibition.

In 1919, the U.S. Senate rejected the World War I Treaty of Versailles.

In 1954, it was announced that the United States would build a radar warning network across arctic Canada.

Ten years ago: Premier Alexei Kosygin was reported to have told visiting U.S. businessmen the Soviet Union might be willing to make a token payment on it's wartime lendlease debt.

Five years ago: Apollo 12 astronauts Charles Conrad and Alan Bean achieved man's second landing on the moon.

Central State backed in report

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) — Central State University President Lionel Newsom praised a state task force report recommending retention of the predominantly black school which was heavily damaged in the April 3 tornado.

"The quality of a school is not measured by its size," Newsom said. "The quality of a school is measured by the students who come there and what its graduates achieve when they leave."

"We must make this a place where students will clamor at the door to get in."

Newsom had feared the task force of the Ohio Board of Regents might recommend closing the school or combining it with another. The report had been ordered before tornadoes swept the Xenia area and caused its delay.

The report recommended that the state provide minimum funding of $6.5 million annually for Ohio's smallest state university with 2,100 students.

The report also called for state aid in rebuilding the school which suffered $13 million damage in the tornado. Newsom said $10 million in federal disaster aid had been sought, but only $2.5 million had been assured.

"A minimum guaranteed level of funding for each small institution permits the university to engage in long-range fiscal program planning," the report said.

"This freedom is especially crucial to Central State University, for its recent history has focused too much on increasing enrollment rather than on the quality of educational experience."

The committee, appointed by Regents Chancellor Dolph Morton, in February, 1974, called on the state to

NEW YORK (AP) — Oral history collections — taped talks with famous figures — aren't new at universities. Alas, they only serve scholars' ears, not eyes. But work has begun to let the eyes have it, too.

Former diplomat Angier Biddle Duke says he's trying to create a videotape file of scholarly interviews with key Americans who, though now out of government service, helped shape modern American history.

The collection, he adds, is for the archives of Duke University and intended "to provide a record for scholars and historians" in which they can observe as well as listen to the subject.

Duke, 58, the chief White House protocol officer in the Kennedy Administration, said he and Jay Rutherford, a former State Department colleague, began work on the project about a year ago.

He said the Duke file already contains videotape interviews he's had with former Sen. John Sherman Cooper, a member of the Warren Commission; Earl T. Smith, the last U.S. ambassador to Cuba before Fidel Castro's rise to power, and the late Stanton Griffis, former U.S. ambassador to Argentina, Spain, Egypt and Poland.

Duke says the tapes aren't made with the idea of offering them to commercial or public TV. "We'd never do that. That would be absolutely ruled out."

The interviews are of retired U.S. government figures, he said, because still-active ones are naturally guarded about what they'd say.

The basic concept, he said, is to question the subjects in an atmosphere in which they need not fear today's recollections are tomorrow's personally and professionally embarrassing headlines.

This way, he added, they could speak freely on all subjects, including all the chemistry that goes into public life and the decision-making process.

And the subjects have final say on exactly when, how and to whom their interviews are to be opened for scrutiny, Duke said.

Up to now, he said, Rutherford, who is retired and living in Palm Beach, Fla., has financed the taping of the Duke interviews.

"But of course, he can't do it indefinitely, and we're seeking help from the foundations supporting the university," he said, estimating the average cost of each taping at $5,000.

He said he established the collection at Duke because that's where he's put his government papers and memorabilia. Members of his family also serve as trustees there, he added.

He said he understands the university's videotape history library is the first of its kind in the nation.

There's a shortage of natural gas.

Available supplies must be conserved.

This winter, there won't be enough gas to meet all needs. DP&L's supplier has again reduced the amount of gas for this area. Commercial and industrial users have been notified to reduce consumption. Some will find it necessary to reduce operations and lay off employees.

Residential customers are urgently requested to conserve gas in the home. You'll save on your gas bills—and your cooperation will help to lessen the effects of the gas shortage—for everyone.

Use the lowest thermostat setting at which you are comfortable. (Every degree higher adds 3% to your heating bill.) Set thermostat lower at night.

Insulate your attic and sidewalls. You can save as much as 30% on your heating bill with adequate insulation.

Weather strip around loose-fitting doors and windows. Caulk outside cracks. Storm doors and windows help keep cold out. Clear plastic sheeting stapled to window frames can be used for the same purpose.

Close off unused rooms. Keep doors closed to attached garage and other unheated areas.

Open drapes and blinds to let the sun help warm your home. If there's no sun, close the drapes against the cold. Close drapes at night for the same reason.

Don't block registers, radiators or cold air returns with rugs, furniture or drapes.

Use kitchen and bath exhaust fans only when necessary.

Don't waste hot water. Insulate hot water lines. Fix leaky hot water faucets.

Check furnace filters every 6 weeks. Clean or replace filters if they are dirty. Be sure your furnace is in good repair. Check belt. Oil bearings. Burners should be cleaned and adjusted from time to time by a reliable heating service man.

The Service People

Cal Goldensquare dance callers scheduled

'DO-SI-DO' — Cal Golden, an International Square Dance Caller, (right) is pictured with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Oyer, president and First Lady of the Jud-I-Ques Western Square Dance Club of Washington C.H., recently when he 'called' for the Scioto Square Dance Council in Chillicothe.

Cal Golden, an International Caller of Square Dance Clubs, has been scheduled to call for the Jud-I-Ques Western Square Dance Club from 2 until 5 p.m. Sunday in the Eastside School gymnasium. All Western Square Dancers are invited to attend, and spectators are welcome, too, as Cal is considered the 'Liberace' of the square dance callers.

Mr. Golden, from Hot Springs, Ark., traveled over 80,000 miles from Vancouver, Canada, to Bangor, Me. In 1968, he called a square dance in the Palace Hotel in St. Mortiz, Switzerland when four kings danced to his calling at one time. He also called at "SHAPE" headquarters in Paris, France, where 18 different nationalities of people were represented on the floor at the same time. He has 'called' in all the states and provinces of Canada and eight foreign countries, has written two books and made 90 recordings.

The Jud-I-Ques Club is a member of the Dance Council with the Crosstrailers, Buckeye Twisters and Belles and Beaus Clubs of Chillicothe.

Mrs. Marting entertains Circle

Mrs. Sam B. Marting entertained Circle 4 of the Grace United Methodist Church, Wednesday, at her lovely country home, with a noon carry-in luncheon. Members were seated at one table for the serving of the luncheon. Mrs. Heber Deer, president, opened the meeting by reading "This is your Birthday". Devotions were given by Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger. Mrs. Robert I. Case read the minutes of the last meeting, and gave the roll call. Members have made 48 calls on shut-ins and at funeral homes during the past month. A least coin collection was taken, and Mrs. Maurice L. Sollars gave the treasurer's report.

The officers of the circle for the coming year are Mrs. Heber Deer, president; Mrs. William D. Shepard, vice president; Mrs. Robert I. Case, secretary; Mrs. Walter E. Sollars, asst. secretary; Mrs. Maurice L. Sollars, treasurer; Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger, press reporter.

Mrs. Deer announced she was donating Christmas gifts for circle shut-ins. A letter was read from Mrs. Allen Puffenberger expressing thanks for the gift for the baby shower. Mrs. Deer also spoke of church day activities and plans.

Corn husk dolls are made by WISH Club

Women In Service Helping (WISH) Club met in the home of Mrs. Randy Schneider, when Miss Susan Pero presented a most interesting program on the construction of corn husk dolls.

Following refreshments, it was announced that a skating party is planned Nov. 26 at Roller Haven, to benefit the learning disability classes in the city and country schools.

The Nov. 20 meeting is planned in the home of Mrs. Glenn Jacobson. Members will work on felt story boards.

Former resident member of honor nursing society

Mrs. Glenn Milstead (Jeri Ann Boylan), was recently selected as a member of Sigma Theta Tau, the only national honor society of nursing.

Constituent chapters are established in collegiate schools of nursing, accredited by the national accrediting body recognized by the profession. Members are selected when they have demonstrated excellence in their nursing programs and have superior academic and personal records.

The purpose of Sigma Theta Tau is to recognize superior achievement, recognize the development of leadership qualities, foster high professional standards, encourage creative work and strengthen commitment to the ideals and purposes of the profession.

Scholarship, leadership and research in nursing are the three fundamental priorities of the professional honor society.

Mrs. Milstead graduated as an R.N. from Mount Carmel Hospital School of Nursing, Columbus, and has been on the faculty of the Muskingum Vocational School, the staff of Licking Valley and Zanesville Hospitals and during the past summer taught nursing technology at Central Ohio Technical College, Newark. At the present she is continuing studies at OSU.

Mrs. Milstead resides at Marne, near Newark, with her husband and four children. She is the daughter of Mrs. William A. Boylan, 826 Lincoln Dr.

Fayette County shines in district

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Honors continue to roll in for Fayette County gridirers. This year's All-Southeastern Ohio District teams were announced today and 11 Fayette Countians were named to either the first or second teams in their respective classes.

Miami Trace led the Class AAA schools with six first team honorees and Washington Court House placed three players on first team in Class AA. One player from each school was also named to the second team in the district. The players were selected by a panel of five sports writers in the southeastern Ohio district.

Miami Trace's Jay Mossbarger (see story below) led this year's selections. Mossbarger, a tight end and defensive end, was chosen as the lineman of the year for Class AAA.

Also named to the first team from Miami Trace were Tom Riley, Jeff Sagar, Tom Reisinger, Greg Cobb and Ron Warnock. Washington placed Larry Dumford, Gilbert Sparkman and Jeff Brown on the first team.

Riley, a 5-foot 11, 185-pound senior, was chosen at quarterback. He was this year's All-SCOL quarterback and the most valuable player on the Panthers' 8-2 squad. He led the team in total offense with 1,137 yards. He connected on 46 of 87 passes with five interceptions for 619 yards and five touchdowns. Riley collected 518 yards rushing and was the Panthers' second leading scorer with 58 points.

Averaging just under six yards per carry and eclipsing the 1,000-yard barrier with 1,005 yards rushing, Sagar was selected as the first team fullback. A 5-foot 11, 175-pound senior, Sagar was All-SCOL fullback and the Panthers' most valuable offensive back this season. He led the team in scoring with 76 points.

Reisinger, a 6-foot 1, 195-pound senior was named as the center for this year's district team. He was also the All-SCOL center and the most valuable offensive lineman for Miami Trace. Reisinger led the Panthers' offensive line in efficiency with a rating of over 86 per cent this season.

Cobb was one of only two juniors to earn first team berths in Class AAA. A six-foot, 185-pounder, Cobb was named at offensive tackle, but he also plays linebacker on defense. As a sophomore, he was honored as the All-SCOL defensive end and this year, he was named All-SCOL tackle and linebacker. He led the Panthers in individual tackles with 71 and assists with 50. In addition to knocking down three passes and sacking the quarterback 18 times, Cobb blocked one punt, caused a safety and recovered two fumbles.

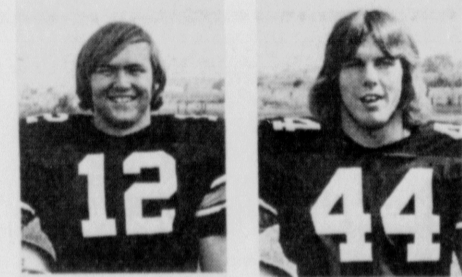

Selected as a defensive tackle, Warnock was also a All-SCOL selection at the same position. Warnock, who is 6-foot 1 and weighs 195 pounds, was the recipient of the Miami Trace Coaches' Award. Noted for his aggressive ability on the pass rush, Warnock had 18 quarterback sacks and was credited with 36 pass rushes.

Dumford was a three-year letterman and was named as a All-SCOL linebacker for two years. Dumford, who is 5-foot 11 and weighs 181 pounds, also started at fullback for the past two seasons. In the three years Dumford has been at linebacker for the Lions, Washington has recorded a 23-7 overall mark. He led the team in tackles for the past two seasons, as he had 107 last year and 82 this season. In being rated at 72 per cent defensive efficiency, Dumford recovered three fumbles and intercepted four passes in the past two seasons.

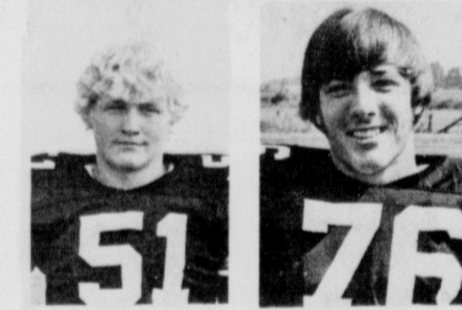

At 5-foot 4 and 135 pounds, Sparkman was the smallest player to be selected to either team in any of the southeastern Ohio classes. A three-year letterman, the senior cornerback had 65 tackles and recovered two fumbles this season. His defensive rating for the Lions was 74 per cent and he picked up 210 defensive points. He was also the honorary captain of the All-SCOL defense this season.

Although it has not been determined whether a All-Ohio kicker will be named, Brown was chosen as the Class

Schembechler keeps mum

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Bo Schembechler admits "there is plenty of incentive in Saturday's Michigan-Ohio State football showdown, but perhaps unbelievably he says it doesn't include bitterness over last year's Rose Bowl vote.

"You feel very strongly about that, but it doesn't have anything to do with this game," the Michigan coach said Monday at his regular news luncheon.

Schembechler fully expected his unbeaten Wolverines to go to the Rose Bowl last season as the Big Ten representative after they tied Ohio State 10-10 at Ann Arbor.

That gave the archrivals a co-championship but since the Buckeyes had gone to the bowl the year before, Michigan expected it would get the nod.

But conference athletic directors voted that OSU should go, and Schembechler was very vocal in his bitterness over that decision.

He didn't dwell on that Monday, preferring to speak mostly in generalizations about the upcoming battle.

AA kicker specialist. Picked as the All-SCOL kicker for the past two years, Brown is 6-foot 1 and weighs 181 pounds. As a three-year letterman and captain of the Lions this season, Brown punted for an average of 36.6 yards and his longest punt was for 53 yards. He was also the quarterback for the Lions as he completed 49 of 100 passes with seven interceptions for 810 yards. He threw eight touchdown passes and averaged over 16 yards per completion.

The two Fayette Countians named to second team positions were senior Phil Skinner and junior Brian Haines. Skinner was a defensive halfback for Miami Trace and Haines was a offensive guard for Court House.

Skinner, a 5-foot 10, 155-pound safety, won a first team berth on the All-SCOL squad and was the Panthers' most valuable defensive back. He broke up 16 passes and intercepted six this year.

Also serving as a middle guard on defense, Haines is 5-foot 9 and weighs 157 pounds. He led the Lions with four fumble recoveries and received a defensive rating of 83 per cent.

Five other players from the SCOL were named to the southeastern district team. Gary Barr, a defensive end from Greenfield, and Jeff Allen, a offensive tackle from Unioto, won first team berths in their respective classes. Offensive tackle Chuck Conley of Greenfield and Unioto's offensive guard Ed Matson and linebacker Pat Kerns were second team selections.

Mossbarger selected district's top lineman

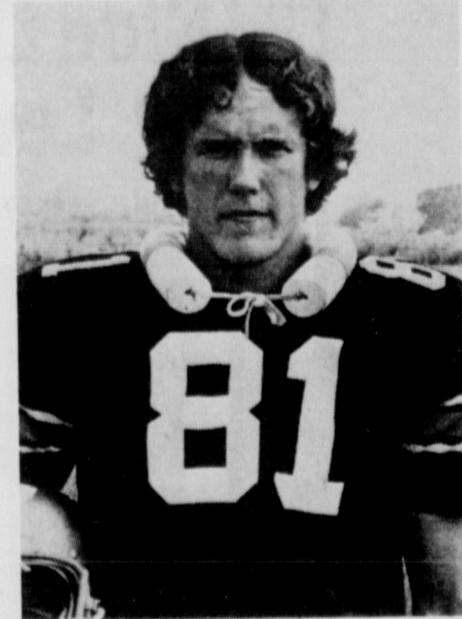

Years of hard work on the gridiron finally paid off for Miami Trace's Jay Mossbarger. Mossbarger, a senior tight end and defensive end, was selected by a panel of sports writers as the Associated Press lineman of the year on the Class AAA All-Southeastern Ohio district football team.

Mossbarger, who is 6-foot and weighs 180 pounds, repeated as this year's district defensive end. After winning district honors last year, he went on to become an All-Ohio honorable mention selection.

In 1973 and 1974, Mossbarger was a first team selection on the All-South Central Ohio League team. He was named as a tight end in 1973 and both as a tight end and defensive end in 1974. He was also this year's honorary captain on offense.

In winning the Panthers' most valuable defensive lineman award, Mossbarger led the team in defensive points with 233. He recorded 45 individual tackles, 44 assists, 29 pass rushes and 20 quarterback sacks. Regarded as one of the most knowledgeable performers on the field, Mossbarger caused four fumbles, recovered one fumble and knocked down four passes.

Miami Trace's tri-captain was equally as impressive on offense. As a tight end, Mossbarger finished fourth in total offense among the Panthers. He collected a total of 287 yards. He also recorded over 83 per cent efficiency in blocking on offense and he was the teams' third leading scorer with 28 points.

For the last two seasons, he has led the Panthers' in pass receiving. This season he caught 17 passes for 245 yards and last year, he grabbed 13 receptions for 338 yards.

With the loss of Mossbarger through graduation, coach Fred Zechman is faced with one of the biggest holes to fill on next year's team. After finishing with a 8-2 record this season, Zechman will have to fill two positions in Mossbarger's place.

Safety leads Chiefs to 42-34 triumph

DENVER (AP) — A seemingly harmless safety ballooned into a 19-point third quarter for Kansas City, boosting the Chiefs to a National Football League victory over Denver and wrecking the Broncos' playoff hopes.

The Chiefs' 42-34 triumph Monday night enabled Oakland to back into the American Conference West Division title and also spoiled a brilliant passing display by quarterback Charley Johnson of the Broncos. He completed 28 of 42 passes for a whopping 445 yards and two touchdowns.

It all started innocently enough on the second-half kickoff of the nationally televised game.

Denver's Oliver Ross fumbled the boot, giving the Chiefs the ball at the Broncos' 12-yard line. Kansas City's Woody Green coughed it up at the one, but two plays later Chiefs' middle linebacker Willie Lanier tackled Otis Armstrong in the end zone for the safety.

Denver still led 21-19 but Kansas City got good field position on the required free kick. The Chiefs promptly drove 49 yards in five plays, climaxed by Len Dawson's scrambling 35-yard TD pass to Otis Taylor.

As if that wasn't enough, Ed Podolak returned a punt 54 yards to the Broncos' 17 and Green ran it in for a 33-21 Chiefs' lead with less than five minutes gone in the period.

Jan Stenerud kicked a 35-yard field goal on the Chiefs' next possession to complete the scoring in the period.

"Losing momentum at the start of the second half is what really hurt us," Broncos' Coach John Ralston said. "We lost the ball, got it back, but then couldn't get it out of the end zone."

Tickets on sale

Reserve seat tickets for Miami Trace's nine home games are now on sale. Anyone interested should contact Glenn Marchal after 8 p.m. The tickets will cost $18 and the Panthers' first home game is this Saturday with Springfield Northeastern.

Fines, jail sentences handed down in court

A local man and woman were found guilty of possession of an hallucinogen and a Cincinnati man was fined $200 for driving while intoxicated Monday in Municipal Court by acting Judge Omar Schwart.

Billy Joe Vinion, 20, of 722 Peabody Ave., was fined $100 and had a six-month jail sentence suspended after he pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of marijuana.

A second case against Vinion charging him with assault on a private warrant was dismissed with the plaintiff paying court costs.

Mary Ann Robinson, 18, Washington Manor Court, was also charged with possession of an hallucinogen. She was fined $50 and had a three-month jail sentence suspended on condition of two years good conduct after pleading no contest to the charge.

Jeffrey A. Foster, 18, Cincinnati, was fined $200 and sentenced to three days in jail with his driver's license suspended for 30 days after he was found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol and - or drugs of abuse.

Another Cincinnati man was fined a total of $60 on two separate charges filed by the Ohio Highway Patrol and Washington C. H. police officers.

Dennis W. Stall, 21, was fined $35 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to comply with a patrolman's orders and $25 after he pleaded guilty to walking on the street in front of the city police station and interfering with traffic.

Three persons were charged and fined for passing bad checks. David R. Harris, 23, Xenia, was fined $25 when he pleaded no contest to a charge of issuing a check with a closed account to Buckeye Mart.

Bernice Hatton, 34, of 5328 U.S. 35 NW, was fined $25 and received a suspended three-month jail sentence on condition of two years good conduct for passing a bad check at Krogers.

And Patricia L. Rhoades, 23, Leesburg, was fined $25 and also received a three-month suspended sentence after pleading guilty to passing a bad check at Krogers.

Frances Irene Queen, 52, of 520 Third St., pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct by intoxication and was fined $20.

John M. Swain, 21, Columbus, was fined $20 after pleading guilty to a charge of speeding.

Six business matters eyed by Kiwanis board

Six matters were handled by the Washington C. H. Kiwanis Club's board of directors at the regular monthly meeting held Monday night in the Lafayette Inn.

Club president Guy M. Foster said the board considered the best way to schedule programs without conflicts in dates; donated $25 to the Miami Trace chapter of the American Field Service program; heard a report that a Key Club state representative will meet with the club to discuss reviving the Fayette County Key Club; discussed as a possible project a pancake day and appointed Ron Lott as chairman to check into possibilities; and welcomed Jim Teeters into the club as its newest member. Last Wednesday, Teeters was inducted into the Kiwanis Club with 85 other members by Kiwanis International president Roy Davis when he visited the Ohio district meeting in Columbus.

In other matters, Roger Kirkpatrick was presented a three-year perfect attendance pin by Bill Still, and bills totaling $787.03 were approved for payment.

Four members of the Columbus Downtown Kiwanis Club met with the Washington C. H. club Monday night.

In closing, Foster announced that next Monday night the club would be attending the Thanksgiving music program presented by the Miami Trace Folksingers in Grace United Methodist Church.

Note lake erosion

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The high level of Lake Erie has not changed the pattern of soil erosion but has increased its rate, according to a Kent State University geologist.

Geologist Andrew Vidra testified Monday at a hearing on water levels in the Great Lakes sponsored by the International Joint Commission of the United States and Canada.

Vidra said that erosion would occur over a period of several years regardless of the lake levels as the rain washed away the sandy top layer of soil.

9-year-old helps police cleanliness

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Richie Parks was late for work the other day and ran smack into his boss, Col. Tom Schwartz, chief of the Boone County police department.

"Hey," Schwartz said, "you're four minutes late for work. What kept you?" "I had to stop and tie my shoe," Parks replied.

Schwartz accepted that excuse. After all, sometimes it takes awhile for a 9-year-old to make a bow.

Richie Parks recently became a part-time employee for the department after walking into headquarters one day and asking if there was anything for him to do.

He said he wanted to earn money to go skating and buy Christmas presents.

The third-grade student at Burlington Elementary School has been put to work doing what the police call "general office cleanup" and the police chief pays him out of his own pocket.

The boy shows up at 4 p.m. two days a week, does an hour's work and gets 50 cents for his efforts.

Archbishop eyed as church leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fast-rising church diplomat, Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardine of Cincinnati, is considered the leading contender for election as president of U.S. Roman Catholic bishops.

Assembly leadership fight set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Supporters of Sen. Oliver Ocasek for Senate majority leader may move today to bring together a Democratic caucus in a way that would be unprecedented—at least in recent history.

They reportedly plan to join in issuing a call for Democrats to meet on Thursday or Friday of this week, rather than wait for the call of their present leader, Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland.

By tradition, the ranking members of each party in the Senate and House issue the call for an organizational meeting after candidates are elected in November.

House Republicans, at the bidding of veteran Rep. Ethel G. Swanbeck, R-72 Huron, did so Monday. They re-elected Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-73 Perrysburg, to his second term as minority leader. The onetime GOP speaker was unopposed.

Likewise, the upcoming caucus of Senate Republicans—yet to be scheduled—figures to produce few if any fireworks. The only announced candidate for minority leader there is Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati.

But with Calabrese, as well as Speaker A.G. Lincione, D-99 Bellaire, in the House, matters will be different. They both face perhaps unbeatable challenges from the men now serving as their assistants.

The retiring Senate majority leader, Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, will call the Senate GOP caucus, while it is up to Calabrese and Lincione, as deans of their chambers, to do likewise. Lincione and Calabrese, sensing defeat, are not anxious.

As a result, Ocasek's Senate backers decided Monday they should take the apparently unprecedented step of bringing themselves together to elect their man. "It probably will be Thursday or Friday," said an Ocasek supporter who asked that his name not be used "at least at this time."

The same senator said Ocasek has at least 14 votes in the 21-member Democratic contingent which will take control of the Senate starting Jan. 6 for the first time since 1959.

Ocasek, 49, is a veteran of 16 years in the Senate and an associate professor at the University of Akron. If he becomes leader, he said, he will take a leave of absence to make his lawmaking job a full time venture.

Calabrese, 67, has been in the Senate for 18 years, and before that was a member of the House for four years. Much of his clout now is gone, since one of his biggest backers, Frank W. King, has been ousted as president of the Ohio AFL-CIO. Calabrese succeeded King as Democratic leader in the Senate where King formerly served.

In the House, Lincione is challenged by his top lieutenant, Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, the current speaker pro tem.

A move to replace the 67-year-old Lincione with Riffe, 49, was started in late summer by supporters who now claim to have a surplus of votes to pull off their revolt. Rumors abound that the speaker might resign from the legislature if removed from his leadership post. He refuses to confirm or deny them.

Kurfess, who was speaker three terms until his party lost control of the House in 1972, was re-elected by the 40 Republicans in the chamber following glowing accolades from them.

Money Matters

By David C. Six

Actually, Only 4 Kinds of Life Insurance . . .

1. - STRAIGHT LIFE - Protection for a life time. Same premiums each and every year. Policy builds an increasing cash value.

2. - LIMITED PAYMENT LIFE - Same as STRAIGHT LIFE, except premium payments, while higher monthly, are limited for a specific number of years. Cash value increases faster.

3. - ENDOWMENT LIFE - The insured obtains a specific sum of money on a certain date. In the meantime there is insurance protection for the full amount of the policy in the event of death happening at anytime before the end of the policy period.

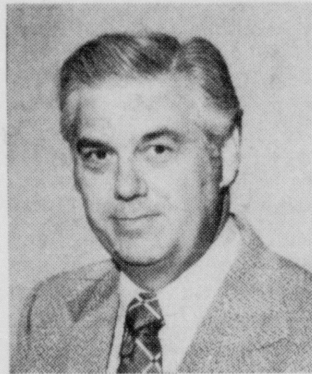

4. - TERM INSURANCE - Protection is provided for a given period of time only. Some policies are renewable at the end of the term. Not usually available after age 65. Most such policies do not accumulate cash values.

To meet different needs there seems to be an almost endless number of variations and combinations of insurance. You need it, and there IS a plan available that is for YOUR best needs!

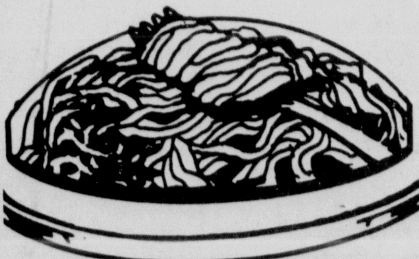

Don't forget. . . Santa is coming to Washington Court House on Sunday, November 24 at 2:00 p.m.

Good Luck to Richard Hooks and Dan Mazza as new managers of the Washington Inn Restaurant.

It is NOT Bank business to be in the insurance business, and that is true at our Bank, your friendly First National Bank of Washington Court House. However, we do know our way around in the field, inasmuch as our training and experience has been in every aspect of money matters. Our best advice, when it comes to insurance, is to talk with an experienced, competent insurance broker.

Youth Activities

VCI
On Saturday November 9, 1974 at 8:00 p.m. The Mobile Home Class Vocational Industrial Clubs sponsored a Battle of the Bands at the Laurel Oaks Campus auditorium. There were three bands that participated in the concert. They were 'April Fools' from Hillsboro High School, 'The Pegasus' from Miami Trace High School, and 'The Huh' from Greenfield High School. The winner of the three bands was the 'Pegasus' from Miami Trace High School. Refreshments were served all through the concert. All in all everybody had a great time. The Mobile Home class wishes to thank everyone who made this concert a success.

Steamboat launching set Nov. 30

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Delta Queen Steamboat Co. will launch the first traditional sternwheeler built in the United States in half a century on Nov. 30, the 139th birthday of Mark Twain.

The $17-million, all steel passenger carrier will be a sistership to the firm's Delta Queen, the last overnight passenger carrier plying the Ohio, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri rivers.

The yet unnamed steamer will be launched at Jeffersonville, Ind. into the Ohio River. Officials said about 14 more months work will be required at the Jeffboat Shipyards where two more decks will be installed and finishing work will be completed.

The firm said the 379-foot long vessel will be of traditional design but with modern conveniences. It will also be fireproof.

It will be propelled by two 2,000-horsepower, cross-compound engines. Modern facilities for the 400-passenger boat will include a complete on-board communications system, swimming pool, elevators, theater and sauna.

The Delta Queen was the subject of a two-year campaign to win exemption from the Safety At Sea Act in Congress. The current steamer's superstructure is basically wood, and, although many fireproofing systems were installed, was in violation of the act.

2 persons killed as trucks collide

DOYLESTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Russell S. Holler, 79, of Akron and Nicholas Keller, 47, of Manchester, an Akron suburb, died Monday night when their pickup collided with another pickup on Ohio 585 near here, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported today.

The driver of the other truck, George S. Spearman, 51, of Wooster, was listed in fair condition in a Barberton hospital, officers said.

The bidding:

Opening lead - king of hearts.

Point count is often just as helpful during the play as it is during the bidding. Here is a case where East made an intelligent use of point count to defeat three notrump.

West led the K-Q-J of hearts, East playing the 4-3-8 in that order. Declarer won the jack with the ace, led the queen of spades and finessed.

East took the king and returned a spade, intentionally not cashing his last heart. He was trying to sell declarer the idea that West had the missing five of hearts.

South had eight sure tricks at this point, and had to decide which way to take the two-way club finesse for his ninth trick. Firmly convinced by the play that West had the missing heart, he won the spade return with the jack, played the jack of clubs and finessed. This method of play would have succeeded, even if the finesse lost, had West held the thirteenth heart.

But East showed up with the queen of clubs, as well as the missing heart, and South went down one. True, he might have gone down one anyhow, had East cashed his heart earlier, but East's subtle defense virtually forced South to misguess the club finesse.

East's play was well founded. He knew, after West had shown up with the K-Q-J of hearts, that South had every missing high card for his 16 to 18 point notrump. West had 6 points, dummy 10 and East 8 — thus accounting for 24 points — and this left South with 16 points which necessarily included the A-J of clubs.

East realized that if he failed to cash his heart at trick five South might take the club finesse through West to "insure" the contract. This was extremely high-class thinking on East's part — and it paid off very well.

Hemorrhoids Don't Mean Cancer

Are there different types of hemorrhoids? Does bleeding from one type mean that cancer may develop?

Miss B.J., Tex.

Dear Miss J.:

It is surprising that despite constant reassurance many readers still express anxiety about relatively insignificant conditions.

So many readers seem to be dominated by the fear of cancer and they relate that fear to any condition that may arise.

Hemorrhoids ("piles") are painful, tender swellings of the veins around the opening of the rectum. When they become enlarged and inflamed the distress can be marked.

Hemorrhoids are of two types: the external, or outer ones, are small rounded, bluish enlargements. They are noticeable when an individual strains during a bowel movement. Painful spasm, burning, itching and bleeding may occur.

Internal hemorrhoids differ only by their location, but the symptoms are similar. Examination quickly reveals their location.

Both types are associated with long-standing constipation or rectal disease. Pregnancy can sometimes produce temporary hemorrhoids.

Many people delay seeking advice from their physicians because they are terrorized by their misconception that rectal bleeding always indicates incurable cancer.

This false notion does a great injustice to those who could benefit from a simple examination and local treatment. Assurance can alleviate these unfounded fears.

Certainly, any persistent bleeding must be studied to determine its exact cause.

Is it safe to use penicillin tablets that have been lying on the shelf for a long time?

Mrs. E.L.B., Va.

Dear Mrs. B.:

Physicians usually prescribe enough drugs to carry one through a period of infection. It is rare that more than a few tablets or capsules remain unused. Even if a few do remain the likelihood is that if another infection occurs a renewed prescription will be necessary. It therefore serves no function to save one or two doses of penicillin to use after a long period of time.

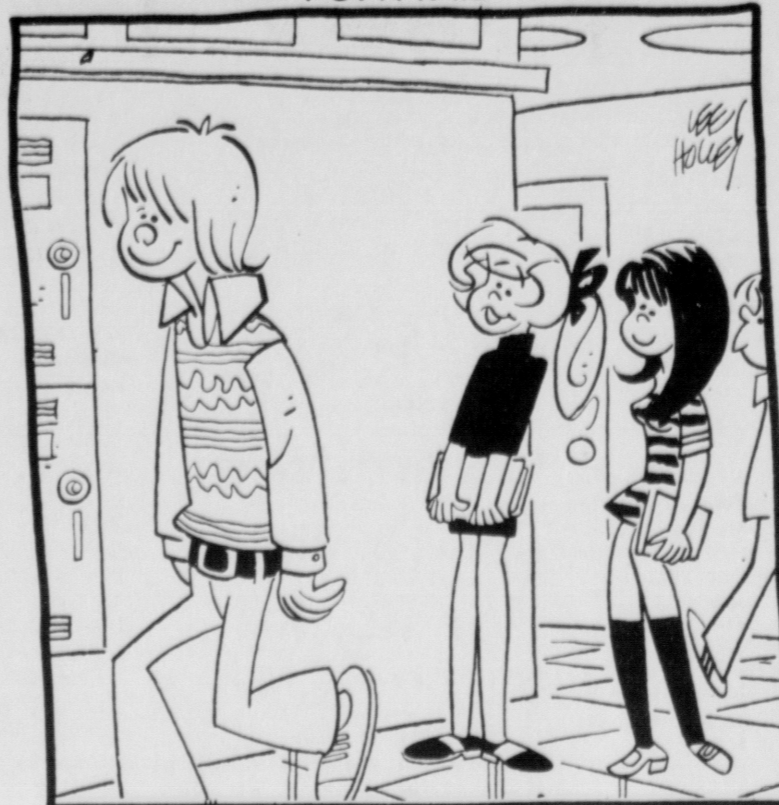

The shelf life of drugs varies.

Coal negotiations may be reopened

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller may have to reopen negotiations with coal industry representatives before he can sell a proposed new contract to his striking union.

Little progress was reported Monday in the UMW's efforts to achieve ratification of the tentative agreement reached last week. A union source said Miller might have to return to the bargaining table with the coal industry to win some modifications in the proposal before it can receive approval of the union's bargaining council.

Industry spokesmen have indicated that such bargaining would only be to consider a possible redistribution of benefits, not a fattening of the overall contract.

Meanwhile, the strike by the 120,000 UMW members, affecting mines producing 70 per cent of the nation's soft coal, entered its second week today.

Discussion of the proposed three-year contract by the bargaining council was scheduled to resume today after a three-day recess because of the apparently unrelated slaying last Friday of a UMW official.

The bargaining council must approve the contract proposal before it can be submitted to the union members. But union officials indicated there is serious disagreement among the council over some sections.

It seemed virtually certain the strike would extend another two weeks, since UMW officials say it will take another eight to 10 days to get the contract ratified once it is approved by the bargaining council.

The strike already has idled more than 15,000 workers in the railroad and steel industries. And government economists claim it lasts as long as four weeks, it will cause major disruptions to the nation's economy, resulting in as many as 400,000 layoffs.

The nation's two largest steel producers announced steps Monday to cut production.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steelmaker, said it would start shutting down entire plants if miners do not return to work by Dec. 1. Bethlehem Steel Corp., the No. 2 producer, said it is banking four coke batteries at its Sparrows Point, Md., plant and laying off 175 of its employees there.

Two sections that may have to be renegotiated by Miller concern wages and vacations, union sources said.

The proposed contract would provide wage increases totaling 15 per cent over three years as well as cost-of-living increases. However, some union officials were reportedly unhappy with the formula that would give miners a 9 per cent increase the first year and 3 per cent each succeeding year.

Sources said many council members also balked at a proposal to require miners to take one week's vacation in the summer and the other at Christmas time. These officials feel that miners should have the right to take both weeks back-to-back, the sources said.

Committee set to vote for Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight of the nine members of the Senate Rules Committee have indicated they intend to recommend that the Senate confirm Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president.

The committee ended its hearings Monday and is expected to vote by the end of the week.

Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said the panel will meet in executive session Wednesday to discuss its recommendation. The House Judiciary Committee begins its hearings on the nomination on Thursday.

Of the Senate committee's four Republicans and five Democrats, only Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., said he had not made up his mind how to vote.

Allen said his indecision was based on philosophical questions rather than any qualms about Rockefeller's ethics.

"The only thing holding me back is my disapproval of his big government philosophy: tax and spend," Allen said.

Cannon and Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said they expect to give Rockefeller the benefit of any doubts they have and will vote to recommend confirmation.

Cannon said the committee probably would not be able to issue its written report before next Tuesday. That timing probably would make it almost impossible for the full Senate to act before leaving on its brief Thanksgiving recess.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had said he would try to get a vote in the Senate next week if the committee reported the nomination this week.

Rockefeller again will be the leadoff witness when the House Judiciary Committee opens its hearings.

Claim payoffs made to police by night club

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Samuel Harris, 28, former night club operator who said Monday he gave $2,000 in payoffs to Newport policemen, is scheduled to resume testimony in U.S. District Court today.

Harris, the chief government witness against three Newport officers, is now serving a federal prison term on a stolen check conviction.

Judge Mac Swinford Monday ruled against a prosecution attempt to play video tapes and tape recordings of alleged payoffs before the jury. The jurist said the quality of the recordings was too poor to be used as evidence.

Charged with extortion are Asst. Chief Donald Faulkner, Capt. William Wells, and Ptl. Jerry McClanahan. The latter are also charged with perjury.

Democratic governors eye economy

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Democratic governors, after taking a step they hope will prevent another clash between regular and reform factions in the party, turned their attention today to the economic headaches of inflation, unemployment and energy.

Several resolutions were expected to be introduced during this final day of the Democratic governors meeting, urging Congress to take immediate steps rather than waiting until next year.

The governors unanimously endorsed on Monday compromise language in a key provision of a proposed party charter that would govern most aspects of party procedure beginning in 1977. The move was the first concrete indication that they will use their increased numbers to expand their role in party affairs.

The disputed language centers on the selection of delegates to the national nominating conventions. The move taken by the governors would encourage participation by women, racial minorities and youth but eliminate the so-called quota system. The wording would also make it more difficult to change the party constitution in future years.

The action came at a private luncheon after several governors had warned that the party's image could suffer if there were a bloodbath at the Kansas City mini-convention next month.

Ford, Hirohito hold conference

TOKYO (AP) — President Ford began the first American presidential visit to Japan today by meeting with Emperor Hirohito and assuring Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka that Japan can count on "a stable supply of agricultural imports from the United States."

Ford invited the emperor to visit the United States next year, renewing an invitation first extended three years ago, and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told a news conference the invitation was accepted.

Ford's talk with Tanaka and other high-ranking Japanese officials also dealt with the locally touchy question of nuclear weapons aboard U.S. Navy ships visiting Japanese ports, the global oil situation and U.S. relations with China and the Soviet Union.

Kissinger said Ford expressed his desire to maintain a steady flow of U.S. agricultural shipments to Japan. The flow was disturbed last year when President Nixon temporarily imposed an embargo on soybean exports, a major source of protein in the Japanese diet.

The secretary of state said the President also "expressed his understanding for the special sensitivities" of the Japanese about nuclear weapons.

Nuclear weapons are barred from Japanese territory, and Tanaka's

Arab terrorists slain, mutilated

By The Associated Press

Israeli troops killed four Arab terrorists holding about 75 men, women and children captive in an apartment building today, and enraged townspeople threw the guerrillas' bodies from the windows and set fire to them.

Police and soldiers watched as one corpse burned, and the mob shouted: "Another one! Another one! Death to terrorists!"

The Israeli military command said three of the residents of the building, a man and two women, were also killed in the shooting in Beit Shean, a town of 20,000 people 15 miles south of the Sea of Galilee and four miles from the Jordanian border.

Residents of the town said 18 Israelis were injured. Many were children who leaped from windows in the four-story building.

There were no casualties among the troops and police, the military command said.

A command spokesman said it could not be determined yet whether the three Israelis were killed by the terrorists or hit in the crossfire when the troops recaptured the building. But unconfirmed reports from the scene said one woman was dead an hour before the soldiers went into action.

The Popular Democratic Front, a Marxist Palestinian guerrilla group, announced in Damascus that the raiders were members of the Front and their purpose was to force Israel to release 13 guerrillas and the Greek Catholic archbishop of Jerusalem, Msgr. Hilarion Capudji, who is charged with smuggling arms to Arab terrorists.

The guerrilla announcement said the raiders were members of the Popular Democratic Front's "Tiberias unit," a claim that they came from within Israel and not from Lebanon, Syria or

Ohio weathering recession well

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is not a job hunter's paradise, but a higher percentage of Ohioans are employed than across the nation, statistics from the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services showed.

The state unadjusted seasonal employment rate for October is expected to be near September's 4.4 per cent, William Papier, director of research and statistics for the bureau, said. This figure, the probable state low for 1974, is well below the national average for the same period of 5.7 per cent. Ohio's October figures won't be compiled until late this month, he said.

Since September, however, thousands of Ohioans have been laid off because of the slump in automotive sales and the coal strike.

General Motors Corp. alone, one of the largest manufacturing employers in Ohio, has laid off more than 8 per cent of its 110,000 workers in the state.

And the United Mine Workers strike has idled 12,000 coal and related industry workers throughout the state.

Papier said that Ohio's low unemployment rate is "attributable to the composition of industry in Ohio. Ohio is fortunate in having some industries that are still going strong, and of the industries most seriously affected, we don't have too many employees in them," he said.

"Ohio normally is not as seriously affected by recessions as is the nation as a whole unless or until the recession tends to be very severe," Papier said recently.

"We have had counteracting trends in this state for a number of years," he said. For example, Papier pointed out, factory employment has decreased 1.1 per cent over a year ago, but non-manufacturing employment has increased 3.4 per cent in the same period.

"One more than offsets the other," Papier said.

Seven out of 10 jobs in Ohio are held by workers employed in the eight large metropolitan areas of Ohio, Papier said. All eight areas show unemployment rates below the national average, he said.

Bureau statistics showed the following September percentage figures of unemployment rates for the major metropolitan areas in the state: Akron, 3.5; Canton, 3.5; Cincinnati, 5.3; Cleveland, 4.7; Columbus, 3.5; Dayton, 3.7; Toledo, 4.7; and Youngstown-Warren, 4.2.

Papier said the rural areas have a "limited effect" on the statewide figures. But he guessed that most of the state's 88 counties were under the national average.

"Ohio shows better than the national picture," Papier said, "but it remains to be seen whether this pattern will continue."

Among the major metropolitan areas, Cincinnati's unemployment rate of 5.3 per cent for September was the highest in the state. However, the estimated number of jobless persons in the area dropped 1,000 persons to 31,800 and overall employment actually rose from 560,400 in August to a September total of 562,500, bureau statistics showed.

Indications of deepening economic slump reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government figures have signaled a deeper slump ahead for the home building industry, and auto and steelmakers warn of production cutbacks that will trigger more unemployment.

The Commerce Department reported Monday that the number of new houses started by builders dropped for the fourth consecutive month during October to a total of 1,124 million units at an annual rate. The rate was off by sevenths of 1 per cent from September and marked the latest in what has been a steady home building decline from 1972.

At the same time, the number of building permits issued during the month totaled the equivalent of 802,000 units, the lowest since December, 1966, when 743,000 permits were handed out. Permit issuances usually anticipate new starts by from three to six months, indicating a further deterioration in the home building industry.

Meanwhile, plans for "substantial plant closing" in December were announced by the Chrysler Corp. Its chairman, Lynn Townsend, blamed the cutback on poor car sales, but said there will be no "company-wide shutdown."

Townsend said there would be many additional layoffs in the coming two months as Chrysler trims 50,000 cars from its fourth-quarter production schedule. Some 26,600 Chrysler workers were on layoffs this week from a blue-collar workforce of about 100,000.

In the steel industry, the nation's two largest producers announced steps to cut production in anticipation of the coal miners' strike lasting at least three weeks.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steelmaker, said it would start shutting down entire plants if miners do not return to work by Dec. 1.

It reduced raw steel production by 25 per cent last week and curtailed hot metal production by 30 per cent, banking 17 blast furnaces and furloughing 13,700 workers.

Tapes bare Nixon's coverup involvement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate cover-up trial is hearing the last major prosecution witness, White House tapes on which Richard M. Nixon discussed offering clemency to E. Howard Hunt Jr. and also was told "the only White House guilt, culpability, is in the cover-up."

Four conversations never before publicly disclosed were played at the trial Monday. Prosecutor James F. Neal said tapes of 15 more conversations would be played before the prosecution completed its case on Thursday.

Two of the tapes played Monday were of conversations between Nixon and Charles W. Colson: a meeting on Jan. 8, 1973, and a telephone call on March 21, 1973.

The other two were meetings between Nixon and H.R. Haldeman, then White House staff chief, on March 20 and 22, 1973.

Haldeman, former White House John D. Ehrlichman, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, ex-assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian, and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee, are charged with conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

The grand jury that returned the indictment on March 1, 1974, named then President Nixon an indicted co-conspirator. Ehrlichman has subpoenaed Nixon to testify at the trial. A spokesman for the former president said Monday Nixon will not object to being examined by a panel of three court-appointed physicians to determine whether he's healthy enough to testify.

Nixon and Colson discussed clemency for Hunt on Jan. 8, 1973, the day former CIA agent Hunt went on trial for the Watergate burglary.

"Hunt's is a simple case," said Nixon. "... We'll build that son-of-a-bitch up like nobody's business. We'll have Buckley write a column and say, you know, that he, that he should have

Full-time emergency room doctor OKd for hospital

Fayette County Memorial Hospital will have a physician in the emergency room 24 hours per day, seven days a week, according to Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator.

Kunz made the announcement Tuesday morning following the regular meeting of the hospital board of trustees Monday night.

The hospital board felt the move was necessary because of the great amount of work done in the emergency room. Kunz said that by the end of the year nearly 15,000 persons will have received emergency treatment during 1974.

In order to ease the financial burden on the hospital, a 298-acre farm owned by the hospital will be sold at auction. The board transferred to the general fund almost $8,000 for the final payment on the hospital's new boilers and $1,260 for the new coronary care equipment.

STATISTICS for the month of October were reviewed. There were 385 admissions, 2,139 in-patient days, 68 births and 222 days of hospitalization for newborns.

The hospital operated at an average of 79.31 capacity with an 80.70 per cent average capacity in the medical and surgical division.

The average length of stay for all patients was 5.61 days and 6.42 days in medical and surgical cases.

There were 862 X-rays taken, 5,963 laboratory test performed. 266

physical therapy treatments, and 650 inhalation treatments.

The hospital performed 89 major surgeries, 85 minor surgeries, and treated 1,249 persons in the emergency room.

The total revenue collected during the first 10 months of the year showed an average of $80.88 per patient day. The budget had estimated $72.24, and the national average is $104.49.

Actual hospital expenditures for the year have averaged $82.03 per patient day. The budget called for expenses of $74.91, and the national average is $103.

Total receipts per admission have averaged $486.12, the budget estimated $466.63, and the national average is $766.76.

Jury selection continues for burglary trial here

The Fayette County Common Pleas Court adjourned at 4 p.m. Monday without having yet seated a jury. The questioning of prospective jurors continued Tuesday morning and seating a final panel is expected before noon.

The trial concerns multiple theft-related offenses against Paul R. Spence, 36, Columbus, James R. Forsythe, 33, of 703 E. Paint St., and Stanley Bellar, Columbus. The three are charged with alleged burglaries at the Washington C.H. Elks lodge, 222 N. Main St., and Associated Plumbers and Heaters, CCC Highway-W, on Sept. 13 and 14.

OF THE nearly 100 prospective jurors summoned for possible jury service, 30 were asked to return Tuesday for the seating of the final 12. As the candidates for jury duty were released Monday, Judge Evelyn W. Coffman again cautioned them not to read accounts of the trial proceedings in the newspaper.

After the jury was dismissed, Columbus attorneys Daniel Conner and John Connors and Fayette County prosecuting attorneys James A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann met in chambers with acting Common Pleas Court Judge Rollo Marchant to argue a defense motion for suppression of evidence.

Conner had requested the hearing to determine the validity of the search warrant used to obtain evidence from an automobile owned by Spence, one of the defendants. He argued that the warrant was not legally executed and that all evidence obtained through the use of the warrant should be suppressed and thus not used in the state's case.

Judge Marchant heard the testimony and arguments on the motion because Judge Coffman had authorized the warrant and was called to testify at the hearing.

He returned a decision to uphold the motion Tuesday morning. Judge Marchant ruled that the testimony of the witnesses at the hearing did not show probable cause.

According to the Ohio Rules of Criminal Procedure pertaining to the issuance of search warrants, a search warrant can only be issued if the warrant names the property to be seized and facts indicating that there is evidence that the property be found in the place to be searched.

These requirements were not met in the issuing of the warrant to search Spence's car, the judge said. He added that he noticed six other points which might be in error in the issuing of the warrant, but he did not find it necessary to rule on the other issues.

In sustaining the motion, the judge ruled that nothing which may have been found as a result of the illegal search could be used as evidence in the pending case. He added that the prosecution might have a right to appeal his ruling.

Conner had argued that officers who arrested Spence outside the Elks lodge had no reason to believe that anything had been taken from the lodge. In fact, he said, they were in an excellent position to know that nothing had been taken and placed in the car.

He noted that no property from the Elks lodge had been found in the car.

ONE OF the points brought out by Conner at the hearing on which Judge Marchant did not rule concerned the filing of the warrant with the clerk of courts.

According to law, after execution of the warrant, the judge who issued it (Judge Coffman) must file it with the clerk. Judge Coffman testified that although the warrant had been filed, she had not done it herself.

Another hearing on a defense motion was held in chambers Tuesday morning. The matter related to the defendant's protection from self-incrimination.

Pioneer 11 to face heavy radiation from Jupiter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer 11 will face a greater radiation danger than any previous spacecraft when it sweeps within 26,600 miles of Jupiter on Dec. 3, project officials report.

The robot explorer could be damaged so severely that it would be unable to carry out the second phase of its long interplanetary journey, a dash across the solar system to a 1979 rendezvous with Saturn.

"The radiation counts will probably soar at a pace that will scare us half to death just before closest approach," said B. J. O'Brien, Pioneer project manager at TRW Inc., which built the satellite for NASA.

Launched 20 months ago, Pioneer 11 is following a path blazed by its twin, Pioneer 10, a year ago. Pioneer 10 zipped 82,000 miles above Jupiter and its cameras and instruments provided science with startling new facts about the colossus of planets.

The newest probe will scout a different region of the planet, including the north and south poles.

"The experimenters measured a lot of intense radiation last year with Pioneer 10," said O'Brien. "This time the spacecraft is going three times closer. The closer you get to the planet, the more a given particle's energy climbs."

Fortunately, much of Pioneer 11's photographic and other investigative work will be completed by the time it hits the heavy portion of the Jovian radiation belt.

"If we hear nothing after it passes through, sure we'll be disappointed; we'll have missed the bonus," O'Brien said. "But we will have achieved our basic objectives — to see new faces of Jupiter, get a different cut through the radiation belts. We'll know more about how to design the next spacecraft so it can survive a passage that close to the planet."

The bonus he referred to is Saturn. That originally was not part of the flight plan. But scientists since have discovered a unique way to use the gravity of field of Jupiter to hurl Pioneer 11, slingshot fashion, on to Saturn.

Mrs. Carrie M. Smalley

GREENFIELD — Mrs. Carrie Mae Smalley, 86, of 957 North St., Greenfield, died at 4 p.m. Monday in Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington C.H. Born in Millersburg, Ky., Mrs. Smalley was a retired school teacher and a member of the Greenfield Church of Christ. Her husband, Ralph, preceded her in death.

She is survived by a brother, Leonard Wood, Paris, Ky., and several nieces and nephews, including Mrs. Charles (Ruby) Huffman, 903 S. North St., Washington C.H.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday in the Anderson-Struve Funeral Home, Greenfield, with the Rev. Danny Dodds officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 4 until 9 p.m. Wednesday.

MRS. FAITHE L. KELLY — Services for Mrs. Faithe L. Kelly, 81, of 126 W. Elm St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in Washington C.H. with the Rev. Mark Dove officiating. Mrs. Kelly, the widow of Fred Kelly, died Thursday. Pallbearers for burial in Washington Cemetery were Fred, Mike, and Robert Kelly, Gene White, James Croker and Larry Oberschlake.

Saxbe clashes with Kelley on FBI role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe has refused to go along with an FBI request for legislation authorizing emergency "dirty tricks" against domestic political organizations.

The split between Saxbe and FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley surfaced at a news conference Monday as the attorney general denounced the disruptive tactics employed in FBI counterintelligence operations for 15 years ending in 1971.

Saxbe said he has taken steps to prevent a repetition of such tactics. But he indicated that he leans against any legislation forbidding them outright.

Instead, Saxbe urged Congress to create a joint House-Senate committee to monitor the daily operations of the FBI. "I think this is one of the greatest safeguards that we could have in this country," he asserted.

Emphasizing a different objective, Kelley asked for legislation to permit the FBI "under emergency situations, to do some things which counteract the effectiveness" of militant groups at the extremes of the political spectrum.

Kelley has been pushing the proposal for almost a year but the Justice Department has refused to adopt it.

Saxbe and Kelley also differed in their appraisal of the tactics launched by the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover against the Communist Party U.S.A., the Socialist Workers party, "black extremist" groups, "white hate" groups and the New Left.

Saxbe said he considers it improper for the FBI to engage in "positive disruptive activities" against domestic organizations in any circumstances.

The counterintelligence program "in my mind, is not something that we in a free society should condone," he continued. "I'm not here to try to justify the activities that went on under this."

But Kelley gave a resounding defense of the operation. He said he is convinced that FBI employees "acted entirely in good faith and within the bounds of what was expected of them by the President, the attorney general, the Congress and the American people."

On the other hand, Saxbe and Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen said FBI officials may have violated the law with some of the disruptive tactics.

Recession

The director of economic research for the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce said the high rate of unemployment for that period was a result of the national economic scene and a local 72-day construction industry strike.

Larry McLaughlin said, "Quite a few people (were) laid off because of the strike, nearly 5,000 in the greater Cincinnati area."

The largest metropolitan area in the state, Cleveland, also showed a drop in its unemployment level from August to September, down .3 per cent to 4.7 per cent of the civilian labor force.

Richard Adler, spokesman for the Greater Cleveland Growth Association, said however, he expects October jobless rates for the area to be over 5 per cent and to rise higher again in November.

Adler said the effects of inflation and the coal strike are yet to be felt. "I think we can survive a short strike without serious effect," he said, "but I emphasize only a very short strike."

The vice president of research for the Columbus Chamber of Commerce attributed the low local unemployment rate of 3.5 per cent for September to the diversity of industry and employment in Franklin County.

James R. Thomas said, "The kinds of employment we have is not as subject to fluctuations as much as the rest of the country."

Newton A. Brokaw, the executive director of the Columbus Industrial Association, said only a few area industries have announced layoffs so far. Brokaw said he expects the Columbus area to fare "very well indeed in a tough economic situation" as a major distribution center.

Chamber chief backs Ford plan

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States said that while he generally approves of President Ford's program to halt inflation, he would urge the chief executive to spend more time selling it.

Arch Booth, here for a two-day conference with regional business leaders, also said the greatest danger which exists now that the recessions has been defined is for Congress to become panicky.

"To enact what we call anti-recessionary measures—that is to prime the pump—would produce short-term solutions, but they would be very limited ones," Booth told a news conference Monday.

"It would only make greater the already immense problem of inflation." The cure can come only at the

Tax reform bill may be delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conceding there is little hope Congress will pass major tax revisions this year, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills says next year's new Congress probably will take up such a bill as a first order of business.

The House Ways and Means Committee, chaired by Mills, resumed work Monday on the legislation to increase taxes on oil companies and lower them for average taxpayers.

The committee is expected to approve some type of slimmed-down bill in a bid to have something to show for several months of work on tax revision proposals. But congressional sources said there was virtually no chance such legislation could be cleared by both House and Senate this year.

Mills originally wanted the committee to produce a streamlined package of tax changes to offer for House action next week. But he said Monday there is no hope of gaining a House decision that quickly on the complex matter.

Mills suggested ending the oil depletion allowance on Jan. 1, 1975, instead of phasing it out by 1979, as the committee decided previously. The allowance saves oilmen between $2 billion and $3 billion a year in federal taxes.

The panel's staff experts suggested these features could be put into a slimmed-down bill: a temporary excise tax on windfall profits of petroleum producers, the end of the depletion allowance, a boost in the investment credit for some public utilities, a series of changes in foreign income features of U.S. tax law, and some tax cuts for average Americans.

The tax cuts would include increasing the maximum standard deduction, used by taxpayers who do not itemize on their return, from $2,000 to $2,500 and boosting the minimum standard deduction that benefits low-income persons from $1,300 to $1,600 for singles and to $1,900 for couples.

council resumes talks on a proposed contract today, but there were indications that negotiations between the union and industry may be reopened because of reported dissatisfaction among union officials over the tentative settlement.

Bethlehem Steel Corp., the No. 2 producer, said it is banking four coke batteries at its Sparrows Point, Md., plant and is laying off 175 of its 22,000 workers there.

In another economic development, the Federal Reserve Board confirmed it began easing restraints on the nation's money supply in August. A report showed that the Fed then targeted money supply growth at from 4.75 per cent to 6.75 per cent. The figure represented an increase from the previous month's target growth of from 2 to 6 per cent.

Jordan.

Townpeople said the terrorists seized the apartment house about 5 a.m., throwing hand grenades and shooting bursts of submachine-gun fire as they broke in. Troops and police units rushed to the scene, sealed off the area but did not attack for more than three hours.

Meanwhile, shooting and explosions were heard inside the building. Residents of the town, which once was a frequent target for artillery fire from Jordan, took cover in air raid shelters.

After the soldiers shot their way into the building and killed the Arabs, hundreds of furious townspeople swarmed in and grabbed the four corpses.

The mob threw the bodies from the windows of a third-floor room stained with blood and pitted by bullets. Screaming men set fire to three of the corpses before police and troops rescued them from the crowd and loaded them into a car.

Then the angry mob turned on newsmen and photographers and beat them for taking pictures of the scene.

Philippine ambassador freed after talks with gun-wielder

WASHINGTON (AP) — A father seeking the release of his son from the Philippines held the Philippine ambassador and a wounded aide hostage for almost 12 hours before throwing down his gun and surrendering.

Napoleon Lechoco tossed the weapon from a second floor window of the Philippine chancery about 2 a.m. today and surrendered peacefully after receiving word that his son, who he claimed had been prevented from joining the rest of the family here, had left the Philippines by airliner.

"Mr. Lechoco felt he had accomplished what he set out to do," said embassy spokesman R.V. Cruz.

Lechoco was taken into custody by FBI agents, and an official said he would be arraigned today on charges of assaulting a diplomatic officer.

Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos had sent his personal assurances to the embassy here that Napoleon Lechoco Jr., 24, would be allowed to leave if his father would free the hostages.

The father said he would release Eduardo Z. Romualdez and his economic attache two hours after his son was airborne, and on the appointed hour the surrender took place, Philippine diplomat Jose Naldo said. In Manila, authorities said the son was en route to the United States. They said he was picked up early Tuesday from the home of his grandfather in neighboring Quezon City.

Gary R. Alexander, Lechoco's lawyer, said Marcos had assured that young Lechoco would "receive immediate and safe release and conduct to the United States on the first available flight."

Romualdez was released unharmed, but the attache, Mario Lagdameo, had a deep flesh wound which doctors at George Washington University Hospital said was caused by a gunshot.

Naldo said Lagdameo, who holds a black belt in karate, was wounded when he tried to wrestle with Lechoco. He said the three men spent most of the siege lying on the floor of Romualdez's office because Lechoco feared the possibility of sniper shots through the windows.

Negotiations prior to the surrender had been going on since shortly after Lechoco took the two men hostages around 3 p.m. EST Monday. Police quickly made telephone contact with Lechoco, and FBI agents entered the talks.

Lechoco's wife was taken to the embassy to relay the Philippine offer directly to her husband, including news that the son would be freed when the hostages were released.

source, he said, by ending deficit spending by the government.

Booth predicted the recession will continue in the United States into mid-1975.

"The fires of inflation will burn through mid-1975, and they may go on for a short time after that. I believe, however, that those fires will eventually burn themselves out," he said.

"When interest rates drop to 7 and 8 per cent, I think you will see a revitalization of consumer confidence and people will begin to buy more."

Booth said he has some indications that the recession is already starting to weaken. Underlying prices on such commodities as copper, tin, wool and cotton are falling slightly. This should soon be reflected in prices like clothing, he said.

"The fact that there is still fluctuation shows that our economy still works," Booth said.

The national chamber generally supports President Ford's 10-point "Whip Inflation Now" (WIN) program, Booth said. But he added that it would be a mistake to tell people not to buy.

"I only wish the President would find more time to sell some of his recommendations," Booth said, declining to criticize the President's trip to Japan. But he added he would "rather see the President in Washington at this time."

Booth said one key way the President could convey his message would be to seek more time on television networks to explain the facts about the energy shortage and inflation.

"Communication is a key part of this effort. The American people are ready and willing to join in this fight against recession," Booth said.

clemency, if you've given 18 years of service ... That's it. It's on the merits."

Columnist William F. Buckley is a long-time friend of Hunt's and at one time served in the CIA with him.

Buckley said Monday in an interview, "I don't need to be reminded to write a column urging clemency even for sons-of-bitches, as Mr. Nixon should know from personal experience."

During that same discussion Haldeman and Nixon expressed concern that Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy director of the Committee to Re-elect the President, would break under pressure. On the other hand, said Haldeman, he wouldn't worry about Gordon Strachan, one of his aides in the White House.

"A hell of a guy," said Nixon.

They discussed Dean's theory that they try to protect the White House staff from Watergate disclosures, "draw the wagons around the White House."

"Who do you let down the tube?" asked Nixon. "Do you let Magruder down?"

"You don't intentionally," replied Haldeman. "You leave Magruder — what you do is, you see, we're, we're doing stuff now. We're keeping quiet and, and, uh, a, that ... just try and cov — and, and putting up this money and, and everything else. We're trying to keep — when you get right down to it, as Dean says — the only White House guilt, culpability, is in the cover-up ..."

Personnel matters handled by board

The Washington C.H. Board of Education met in a brief session Monday night and considered a number of personnel matters.

The board accepted with regret the resignations of Mrs. Barbara Leggett, a longtime teacher's aide, and Norman Aills, attendance officer. Mrs. Carol Aills was then employed to replace her husband in the position as attendance officer.

The board approved a new contract for Ralph Lawson, custodian at Washington Senior High School. He will be working as daytime custodian in the future.

Mrs. Yvonne Foster was employed as a substitute teacher for grades one through six, effective Jan. 1.

SUPERINTENDENT Edwin M. Nestor reported on three meetings held with members of the City Teachers Association. He said that he had explained to the CTA that the board would do everything in its power to provide as large an increase in salaries as possible. However, he reported that he had also explained that with the rising costs of supplies, services and utilities it was difficult to trim elsewhere in the budget in order to provide additional funds.

Four mishaps investigated

A Washington C. H. woman was cited for a traffic offense Monday by city police and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated an accident in which a wagon separated from the tractor pulling it and crashed. Police also reported two additional Monday mishaps.

A rear-end collision involving cars driven by George H. Wonderleigh, 45, of 222 Fairview Ave. and Mabel L. VanPelt, 58, of 210 E. Elm St., occurred at the intersection of W. Court and Main streets at 6:29 p.m. Monday.

Washington C. H. police cited Ms. VanPelt for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

A wagon containing shelled corn was heavily damaged when it became unhitched from the tractor pulling it, driven by Paul J. Adams Jr., 19, Rowe Ging Road, at 6 p.m. Monday.

The incident occurred on Ohio 41, seven-tenths of a mile south of Elm Street. The wagon rolled left of center and off the left side of the road where it collided with a guardrail and overturned against a light pole. Adams was not hurt in the accident.

A car belonging to John D. Baker II, Rt. 4, was moderately damaged by a hit-skip driver while it was parked in the Pennington Bakery parking lot on the CCC-Highway-W from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday.

Washington C. H. police are seeking the unidentified driver.

A car driven by Dorothy M. Angeletti, 19, of 213 Central Place, struck a parked car belonging to Anna Wilt, of 412 Clyburn Ave., at K-Mart, Columbus Avenue, at 5:16 p.m. Monday, police reported.

City zoners eye variance request

Members of the Washington C. H. City Zoning Board of Appeals will consider one variance request at the regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the City Office Building.

City Manager Dan Wolford, who serves as secretary of the zoning board of appeals, said the board will consider an application submitted by Jack L. Thompson for the Church of Christ in Christian Union, 424 Gregg St., for a variance to erect a sign in front of the church.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Gordon Gammack, 65, a reporter, columnist and correspondent for The Des Moines Register and Tribune during three years, died Monday of lung cancer.

Nursing homes facing deadline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Faced with massive nursing home non-compliance to new fire safety regulations, a Cincinnati legislator has called for the establishment of a watchdog committee to oversee enforcement of the law.

State Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-Cincinnati, said Monday that about 600 of the state's 1,200 nursing homes will not have automatic sprinkling systems installed by the Jan. 1 deadline.

A spokesman for the National Automatic Sprinkler System and Fire Control Association predicted that the suppressant devices would not be installed in all of the remaining homes until the end of next year.

Based on information reported at the 90-minute meeting here, Murdock agreed that, "We'd be lucky to have 100 per cent compliance by the end of the (next) year."

Murdock, the assistant house minority leader, said he felt "very strong about having a watchdog committee" help enforce the law, as an alternative to granting a six-month or one year extension.

Nevertheless if nursing homes should continue to fail to comply with the regulations, officials are limited in the actions they can take, realizing it would be undesirable to shut the homes down and turn away the elderly.

Murdock, who wrote the December 1972 statute, said he would recommend to the General Assembly establishment of a legislative committee to help enforce the law.

The meeting was attended by representatives of state agencies, nursing homes and the fire safety industry.

Several officials, including Murdock, faulted the nursing homes for foot-dragging on installation of the new equipment. The homes have had almost two years to comply with the regulations.

However, state Fire Marshal David A. Lucht placed much of the blame on "hassles" created by conflicting and overlapping federal regulations.

Most of the parties involved in Ohio, he said, "are trying to make the best out of a bad situation."

"I would have to recommend that the (Ohio) law stay as it is... and perhaps establish a watchdog committee."

Prayer breakfast draws 71 teens

Seventy-one teens and five teachers were present for the prayer breakfast at the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday morning.

"How To Know Jesus Better" was the topic for the meditation time led by the Rev. Charles J. Richmond.

Linda Hollingsworth, junior at WSHS, and Marilyn Creamer, sophomore at MTHS, led the group in several choruses. Carmen Frogale, teacher at WSHS, offered prayer for the food.

After breakfast Kevin Blair, senior at WSHS, spoke to the group on the love of God. He then dismissed the session with prayer. The next prayer breakfast will be at 6:45 a.m., Nov. 26 and will follow the Thanksgiving theme.

Purse stolen

A purse containing $15, belonging to Janet West, 117 Lakeview Ave., was stolen from her car while it was parked in the Roller Haven lot, CCC-Highway-W, from 6 p.m. through 10 p.m. Monday.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft.

Democracy needs vitamins

Almost everybody agrees that it's a great national scandal and a reason for deep concern when only 38 per cent of Americans of voting age turn out for state and congressional elections. Many who deplore this on principle seem not to realize, however, what an impact such a showing has on the democratic process.

The effect can be decisive. One of the wire services has come up with a number of examples from the recent elections to illustrate this. In each case, had the voter turnout been higher by a fraction of a percentage point the result might have been different.

Item: With 41 per cent of the state's voting-age residents going to the polls, New Hampshire transformed Rep. Louis Wyman into a senator by a margin of 290 votes out of 221,000 cast.

Item: More than three million votes were cast in Ohio, but that was still only 42 per cent of those eligible. James J. Rhodes was named governor by 10,000 votes after having gone to bed thinking he was defeated.

Item: In Oklahoma a 43 per cent

turnout made the total vote 800,000. A 3,000-vote edge kept Henry Bellmon in the Senate.

In each of these instances, it was the Republican candidate who won by a small majority. That is significant because this was clearly a Democratic year, making it likely that there had been a substantially larger number going to the polls the outcome would have been reversed. The Democrats can kick themselves.

We can all kick ourselves, though about that national total of around 38 per cent voting.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . . By Marquis Childs

Ford's pork barrel problems

WASHINGTON — President Ford's candor as he wades into the incredibly difficult task of cutting government spending is admirable. Considering where to use the knife, he confessed that he "sometimes voted to spend more taxpayers' money for worthy projects in Grand Rapids, Mich., while vigorously opposing boondoggles in Oklahoma."

Whacking at the public works pork barrel, the President is discovering just how hard it is to squeeze even modest savings out of the complex of congressional log rolling that promises navigation for Goose Creek in Oklahoma in return for a waterway opening Grand Rapids to the world's commerce. He called for a one-year deferral of public works projects saving $82 million in the current fiscal year.

This was before the election and the screams of pain and rage that went up could be heard from shining sea to shining sea. Mind you, these are deferrals and they can be revoked by action by either house of Congress.

But it is a serious challenge to those whom the President denounced in the campaign as the big spenders. If they will not stand still for this modest cheese-paring, the hope for any agreement between the new top-heavy

Democratic Congress and the Republican President is slight.

In his claim to bite the bullet, Ford might better have cancelled outright 20 boondoggles approved by Congress.

The cost in the current fiscal year is $166 million. But as Elvis J. Stahr, president of the National Audubon Society, a leader in conservation, pointed out, this is only a down payment. The estimated cost of completing these projects is more than 4.9 billion and, if inflation continues at a rate of 10 per cent, it may in five years be $7 billion.

Several of the Ford deferrals are on the list of 20 submitted to the President by the Audubon Society as candidates for economy, among them the Central Arizona project estimated to cost more than $1 billion to complete. The Army Corps of Engineers, those indefatigable diggers that no President has been able to checkmate, and Interior's Bureau of Reclamation account for most of the big spending.

As Stahr pointed out in a letter to the President, too many irrigation projects destroy arable land, waste water and, like too many flood-control projects, artificially stimulate development in the wrong places bringing new pressure for more spending for more flood control.

He cited examples of spending that is not only a waste of money but is demonstrably harmful both ecologically and to farming interests.

Ironically one of the deferred projects was reported to be in the district of a hard-pressed Republican, Rep. Robert B. Mathias, the Olympic decathlon champion, running for a fifth term. The news reports were in error, since the San Luis Canal Central Valley Water Project is in the adjoining district of Rep. B.F. Sisk, a Democrat. Sisk was re-elected with a comfortable majority while Mathias was defeated.

Calling for sacrifice and economy, as he did in his Kansas City speech, the President is beginning to get the brickbats from industries hurting in the recession.

Lynn A. Townsend, chairman of the Chrysler Corporation, said at a press conference that since the President called for saving and belt tightening the sales of autos, the principal item in most household budgets, had dropped sharply. Chrysler lost $8 million in the third quarter.

"He urged people not to buy," said Townsend, "and they're not buying." This conveniently ignores the fact that the motor manufacturers raised car prices from 12 to 18 per cent with carrying charges proportionately increased. In the face of the swift upward rise in the price of food, clothing, all the basic items in a family budget, that increase was certainly a brake on potential car buyers.

Part of the initiation of a President newly in office is to learn that he must accept the blame for everything, including the weather. This is particularly rough for Ford, since a thousand and one troubles in a time of perennial crisis end up in the oval office.

If it is a test for the President it is also a test for the Congress. And that first small step, halting the flow of federal spending to certain of the Goose Creeks of America, should be a signal for cooperation.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Some misleading influences. Watch out for any attempt to break or default on contracts, other agreements.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Some disturbance in career matters could cause you to be unnecessarily abrupt with loved ones. Don't let this happen or you will regret it later.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

If you maneuver skillfully enough, you can gain some advantageous fringe benefits in a business negotiation.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Accent is now on travel. A trip taken in connection with a legal issue could have an especially fortunate outcome.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Some unpredictable associates need watching now. One or the other could try to "muscle in" on one of your pet solo ventures.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

One of those days when a snap decision could turn out surprisingly well. You ordinarily deliberate carefully in all situations, but right now a hunch will pay off.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Introduce a new note — perhaps a new approach — to give more spark to day's doings. Output will substantially improve.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Go after the big gains but do not expect to have things your way all along the line. Be prepared for some opposition and you can meet it more easily.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A tabulation of "musts" may uncover a weak program — one that should be pepped up to show your abilities to better advantage.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Not much planetary help here. How the day turns out will be largely up to yourself. Use your wits to project the effective and eliminate the mediocre.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Look well into proposed suggestions or you may find yourself involved where you least desire it. Some definite "no" answers will be required.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Avoid tendencies toward restlessness and unruliness. Note warning signals. Many errors and misguided moves can thus be averted. Shun extremes.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with both mental alertness and manual dexterity. You have a flair for gracious living and have real know-how when it comes to dealing with people, separately or collectively. You are often called lucky, but your "luck" results from your keen observations, the ability to separate the wheat from the chaff and an instinct for grasping advantages at just the right time. You are extremely versatile and many fields are open to your talents; most notably, however, the worlds of law and statesmanship, business organization, science, music, literature and the theater. Try to curb tendencies to go to extremes.

Ohio Perspective

No women blacks in state assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's new General Assembly, as in past years, has more blacks than women—but no women blacks.

The 111th General Assembly will have the same number of blacks as the 110th and two additional women members, making blacks an 8.3 per cent and women 6.8 per cent minorities.

Ohioans re-elected nine black House members in as many contests Nov. 5, along with both black lawmakers in the Senate. Two black challengers of white incumbents lost.

Rep. M. Joan Douglass, R-61 Mansfield, was defeated in her bid for a second term, but Reps. Donna Pope, R-12 Parma; Irene Smart, D-49 Canton, and Ethen Swanbeck, R-72 Huron, were re-elected.

Four new women join the returnees when the new General Assembly convenes Jan. 6, boosting the House total to seven—the highest total in recent history.

They are Reps.-elect Helen Fix, R-26 Cincinnati; Virginia Aveni, D-17 Lyndhurst in Cuyahoga County; Francine Panehal, D-5 Cleveland, and Irma Karmol, R-44 Toledo.

Among the seven, four are Republicans and three Democrats in a 99-member House that will be dominated 59-40 by Democrats.

In the 33-member Senate, controlled by the Democrats 21-12, there will be two women next time, a loss of one resulting from the defeat of Sen. Clara E. Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton.

Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, was elected to her second four-year term in the Senate, and Sen. Anice W. Johnson, R-18 Aurora, is in the middle of her first term. Valiquette was a chief sponsor of the federal women's Equal Rights Amendment which Ohio ratified early this year.

Two blacks made formidable challenges of white incumbents this year. Republican Akron Councilman Thad Garrett lost to Rep. Pete Crossland, D-42 Akron, in a close contest, and former GOP Rep. David Albritton, a former Ohio State and Olympic track star, narrowly lost to Rep. Edward J. Orlett of Dayton in the 34th House District.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A deluge of data on "dats"

DEAR ABBY: Your correspondent was not crazy. There was an article in the newspaper stating that a dog and cat had been mated, and the result was a "dat."

In 1970, a London pet shop owner, R.O.Y. Tutt, claimed that he had accomplished that which zoologists declared was impossible. He bred "dats" from a black cat and a Scottish terrier. Tutt said they had heads like dogs, but they had fur, whiskers and claws like cats. And he even sent along some "pictures" of the newborn "dats."

Later he was forced to admit that it was all a hoax.

I am a proofreader at the Daily News in Port Angeles, Washington, and am herewith enclosing the article and picture.

DONNA GREIER

DEAR DONNA: Thanks. Your letter was the first I received to document the item. Subsequently, however, it rained cats, dogs and "dats."

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to a professional gambler for 14 years. We used to live in Nevada where gambling was legal, then we moved to a state where gambling is illegal.

My husband operates a respectable cocktail lounge-but he makes his big money running a high-stakes poker game in the back.

Last week the police raided his place. The whole story was in the newspapers, and he showed up on television looking like a common criminal with his jacket in front of his face.

The next day he was back in the gambling business. (He said there had been a "mix-up in the payoff.")

Our two daughters (11 and 12) came home from school crying. They said the kids made fun of them because their father had been arrested. Now they don't want to face their friends at school.

I begged my husband to cut out the gambling business for our daughters' sake. He reminded me that the girls and I had enjoyed lots of luxuries because of his gambling business so we shouldn't complain.

I'd rather have less, and have my husband in a legitimate business. How can I get through to him?

HAT IT IN HOUSTON

DEAR HAT IT: Your husband has a point as far as you're concerned. It's something else with the daughters. You could have settled for less long ago. The girls had no choice. For their sake you should use every means at your disposal to persuade your husband to pocket his deck and go straight.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to the mother who is still nagging her tall 36-year-old daughter to "sit straight:" I think I know the problem. The world is made to accommodate 5'3" to 5'5" women.

That tall daughter should raise her sinks, stove and counter area enough to accommodate her height, and then watch her shoulders move back! It worked for my daughter, and it took only a hike of three inches to do it. I have a smart husband.

DEAR 5'9": A husband who can raise a sink, stove and counter area and is willing to do it in order to accommodate the tall women in his home is indeed 9 feet tall himself.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 19, the 323rd day of 1974. There are 42 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1863, President Abraham Lincoln delivered his Gettysburg Address.

On this date: In 1497, the navigator, Vasco da Gama sailed through the passage to India around Africa's Cape of Good Hope.

In 1794, the United States and Britain signed the Jay Treaty, adjusting issues that had not been settled in the Revolutionary War.

In 1831, the 20th American president, James Garfield, was born on a farm near Mentor, Ohio.

In 1874, the National Women's Christian Temperance Union was organized in Cleveland, Ohio, to work for prohibition.

In 1919, the U.S. Senate rejected the World War I Treaty of Versailles.

In 1954, it was announced that the United States would build a radar warning network across arctic Canada.

Ten years ago: Premier Alexei Kosygin was reported to have told visiting U.S. businessmen the Soviet Union might be willing to make a token payment on it's wartime lendlease debt.

Five years ago: Apollo 12 astronauts Charles Conrad and Alan Bean achieved man's second landing on the moon.

One year ago: Prices on the New York stock market made their sharpest drop in more than eleven years as investors worried about the energy crisis.

Today's birthdays: India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi is 57. Television personality Dick Cavett is 38.

Thought for today: There will never be a generation of free men until there has been a generation of free women — of free mothers. — Robert G. Ingersoll, American lawyer and statesman, 1833-1899

Find turkey for holiday cheaper

By The Associated Press

Americans trying to fit holiday celebrations into inflation-tight budgets have at least one thing to be thankful for this year: turkey is cheaper than it was in 1973.

An Associated Press survey showed that while the cost of most of the ingredients of a Thanksgiving dinner has gone up, turkey prices have dropped by about 20 cents a pound to an average of 49 to 69 cents.

Poultry producers said the reason for the decline was an abundant supply and they complained they were losing money on their birds.

"We've been losing up to $2 per bird," said Carl Johnson, head of the Wisconsin Turkey Federation. Poultry producers said it costs about 35 cents a pound to raise a turkey. They're getting only about 28 cents a pound.

The rest of the Thanksgiving dinner is more expensive, however.

A comparison of supermarket advertisements in Montgomery County, Md., for November, 1973 and November, 1974 showed bread, used for stuffing, was up from 30 to 48 cents a loaf; fresh cranberries went from 29 to 39 cents a pound.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Oral history collections — taped talks with famous figures — aren't new at universities. Alas, they only serve scholars' ears, not eyes. But work has begun to let the eyes have it, too.

Former diplomat Angier Biddle Duke says he's trying to create a videotape file of scholarly interviews with key Americans who, though now out of government service, helped shape modern American history.

The collection, he adds, is for the archives of Duke University and intended "to provide a record for scholars and historians" in which they can observe as well as listen to the subject.

Duke, 58, the chief White House protocol officer in the Kennedy Administration, said he and Jay Rutherford, a former State Department colleague, began work on the project about a year ago.

He said the Duke file already contains videotape interviews he's had with former Sen. John Sherman Cooper, a member of the Warren Commission; Earl T. Smith, the last U.S. ambassador to Cuba before Fidel Castro's rise to power, and the late Stanton Griffis, former U.S. ambassador to Argentina, Spain, Egypt and Poland.

Duke says the tapes aren't made with the idea of offering them to commercial or public TV. "We'd never do that. That would be absolutely ruled out."

The interviews are of retired U.S. government figures, he said, because still-active ones are naturally guarded about what they'd say.

The basic concept, he said, is to question the subjects in an atmosphere in which they need not fear today's recollections are tomorrow's personally and professionally embarrassing headlines.

This way, he added, they could speak freely on all subjects, including all the chemistry that goes into public life and the decision-making processes.

And the subjects have final say on exactly when, how and to whom their interviews are to be opened for scrutiny, Duke said.

Up to now, he said, Rutherford, who is retired and living in Palm Beach, Fla., has financed the taping of the Duke interviews.

"But of course, he can't do it indefinitely, and we're seeking help from the foundations supporting the university," he said, estimating the average cost of each taping at $5,000.

He said he established the collection at Duke because that's where he's put his government papers and memorabilia. Members of his family also serve as trustees there, he added.

He said he understands the university's videotape history library is the first of its kind in the nation.

Central State backed in report

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) — Central State University President Lionel Newsom praised a state task force report recommending retention of the predominantly black school which was heavily damaged in the April 3 tornado.

"The quality of a school is not measured by its size," Newsom said. "The quality of a school is measured by the students who come there and what its graduates achieve when they leave."

"We must make this a place where students will clamor at the door to get in."

Newsom had feared the task force of the Ohio Board of Regents might recommend closing the school or combining it with another. The report had been ordered before tornadoes swept the Xenia area and caused its delay.

The report recommended that the state provide minimum funding of $6.5 million annually for Ohio's smallest state university with 2,100 students.

The report also called for state aid in rebuilding the school which suffered $13 million damage in the tornado.

Newsom said $10 million in federal disaster aid had been sought, but only $2.5 million had been assured.

"A minimum guaranteed level of funding for each small institution permits the university to engage in long-range fiscal program planning," the report said.

"This freedom is especially crucial to Central State University, for its recent history has focused too much on increasing enrollment rather than on the quality of educational experience."

The committee, appointed by Regents Chancellor Dolph Morton, in February, 1974, called on the state to

New Marathon well testing suspended

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Marathon Oil Co. announced Monday that testing of a well about 50 miles off shore of Ireland has been suspended because of bad weather in the Celtic Sea that created safety hazards.

The well was being drilled by Esso Exploration Production Ireland Co. in an area farmed out by Esso by Marathon.

make an immediate capital grant available to help rebuild the university's facilities.

"It is the committee's opinion," the report said, "that Central State University is an invaluable asset to the State of Ohio, and should remain as an independent institution.

"Responsibility for educating educationally disadvantaged may go unmet in Ohio if it is not assumed by Central State."

There's a shortage of natural gas.

Available supplies must be conserved.

This winter, there won't be enough gas to meet all needs. DP&L's supplier has again reduced the amount of gas for this area. Commercial and industrial users have been notified to reduce consumption. Some will find it necessary to reduce operations and lay off employees.

Residential customers are urgently requested to conserve gas in the home. You'll save on your gas bills—and your cooperation will help to lessen the effects of the gas shortage—for everyone.

Use the lowest thermostat setting at which you are comfortable. (Every degree higher adds 3% to your heating bill.) Set thermostat lower at night.

Insulate your attic and sidewalls. You can save as much as 30% on your heating bill with adequate insulation.

Weather strip around loose-fitting doors and windows. Caulk outside cracks. Storm doors and windows help keep cold out. Clear plastic sheeting stapled to window frames can be used for the same purpose.

Close off unused rooms. Keep doors closed to attached garage and other unheated areas.

Open drapes and blinds to let the sun help warm your home. If there's no sun, close the drapes against the cold. Close drapes at night for the same reason.

Don't block registers, radiators or cold air returns with rugs, furniture or drapes.

Use kitchen and bath exhaust fans only when necessary.

Don't waste hot water. Insulate hot water lines. Fix leaky hot water faucets.

Check furnace filters every 6 weeks. Clean or replace filters if they are dirty. Be sure your furnace is in good repair. Check belt. Oil bearings. Burners should be cleaned and adjusted from time to time by a reliable heating service man.

DP&L

The Service People

Entering or leaving, close outside doors promptly.

A humidifier will help you keep comfortable at a lower temperature setting. A pan of water near a heat register can be used to add humidity to the air.

Cal Goldensquare dance callers scheduled

'DO-SI-DO' — Cal Golden, an International Square Dance Caller, (right) is pictured with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Oyer, president and First Lady of the Jud-I-Ques Western Square Dance Club of Washington C.H., recently when he 'called' for the Scioto Square Dance Council in Chillicothe.

Cal Golden, an International Caller of Square Dance Clubs, has been scheduled to call for the Jud-I-Ques Western Square Dance Club from 2 until 5 p.m. Sunday in the Eastside School gymnasium. All Western Square Dancers are invited to attend, and spectators are welcome, too, as Cal is considered the 'Liberace' of the square dance callers.

Mr. Golden, from Hot Springs, Ark., traveled over 80,000 miles from Vancouver, Canada, to Bangor, Me. In 1968, he called a square dance in the Palace Hotel in St. Mortiz, Switzerland when four kings danced to his calling at one time. He also called at "SHAPE" headquarters in Paris, France, where 18 different nationalities of people were represented on the floor at the same time. He has 'called' in all the states and provinces of Canada and eight foreign countries, has written two books and made 90 recordings.

The Jud-I-Ques Club is a member of the Dance Council with the Crostrailers, Buckeye Twisters and Belles and Beaus Clubs of Chillicothe.

Birthday parties honor little ones

Mrs. Marting entertains Circle

Mrs. Sam B. Marting entertained Circle 4 of the Grace United Methodist Church, Wednesday, at her lovely country home, with a noon carry-in luncheon. Members were seated at one table for the serving of the luncheon. Mrs. Heber Deer, president, opened the meeting by reading "This is your Birthday." Devotions were given by Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger. Mrs. Robert I. Case read the minutes of the last meeting, and gave the roll call. Members have made 48 calls on shut-ins and at funeral homes during the past month. A least coin collection was taken, and Mrs. Maurice L. Sollars gave the treasurer's report.

The officers of the circle for the coming year are Mrs. Heber Deer, president; Mrs. William D. Shepard, vice president; Mrs. Robert I. Case, secretary; Mrs. Walter E. Sollars, asst. secretary; Mrs. Maurice L. Sollars, treasurer; Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger, press reporter.

Mrs. Deer announced she was donating Christmas gifts for circle shut-ins. A letter was read from Mrs. Allen Puffenberger expressing thanks for the gift for the baby shower. Mrs. Deer also spoke of church day activities and plans.

Corn husk dolls are made by WISH Club

Women In Service Helping (WISH) Club met in the home of Mrs. Randy Schneider, when Miss Susan Pero presented a most interesting program on the construction of corn husk dolls.

Following refreshments, it was announced that a skating party is planned Nov. 26 at Roller Haven, to benefit the learning disability classes in the city and country schools.

The Nov. 20 meeting is planned in the home of Mrs. Glenn Jacobson. Members will work on felt story boards.

Former resident member of honor nursing society

Mrs. Glenn Milstead (Jeri Ann Boylan), was recently selected as a member of Sigma Theta Tau, the only national honor society of nursing.

Constituent chapters are established in collegiate schools of nursing, accredited by the national accrediting body recognized by the profession. Members are selected when they have demonstrated excellence in their nursing programs and have superior academic and personal records.

The purpose of Sigma Theta Tau is to recognize superior achievement, recognize the development of leadership qualities, foster high professional standards, encourage creative work and strengthen commitment to the ideals and purposes of the profession.

Scholarship, leadership and research in nursing are the three fundamental priorities of the professional honor society.

Mrs. Milstead graduated as an R.N. from Mount Carmel Hospital School of Nursing, Columbus, and has been on the faculty of the Muskingum Vocational School, the staff of Licking Valley and Zanesville Hospitals and during the past summer taught nursing technology at Central Ohio Technical College, Newark. At the present she is continuing studies at OSU.

Mrs. Milstead resides at Marne, near Newark, with her husband and four children. She is the daughter of Mrs. William A. Boylan, 826 Lincoln Dr.

Progressive Heirs make pillows for children's ward

Members of the Progressive Heirs Child Conservation League made animal pillows for the children's ward of Memorial Hospital, when members met in the home of Mrs. Wilma Lower, who also conducted the meeting.

It was announced that the annual Christmas party will be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 18 at the Terrace Lounge.

Refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served by Mrs. Lower, Mrs. Carol Wissinger and Mrs. Shirley Merritt to Mrs. Harold Anderson, Mrs. Melvin Hinkley and Mrs. Fred Doyle.

Fayette County shines in district

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Honors continue to roll in for Fayette County gridders. This year's All-Southeastern Ohio District teams were announced today and 11 Fayette Countians were named to either the first or second teams in their respective classes.

Miami Trace led the Class AAA schools with six first team honorees and Washington Court House placed three players on first team in Class AA. One player from each school was also named to the second team in the district. The players were selected by a panel of five sports writers in the southeastern Ohio district.

Miami Trace's Jay Mossbarger (see story below) led this year's selections. Mossbarger, a tight end and defensive end, was chosen as the lineman of the year for Class AAA.

Also named to the first team from Miami Trace were Tom Riley, Jeff Sagar, Tom Reisinger, Greg Cobb and Ron Warnock. Washington placed Larry Dumford, Gilbert Sparkman and Jeff Brown on the first team.

Riley, a 5-foot 11, 185-pound senior, was chosen at quarterback. He was this year's All-SCOL quarterback and the most valuable player on the Panthers' 8-2 squad. He led the team in total offense with 1,137 yards. He connected on 46 of 87 passes with five interceptions for 619 yards and five touchdowns. Riley collected 518 yards rushing and was the Panthers' second leading scorer with 58 points.

Averaging just under six yards per carry and eclipsing the 1,000-yard barrier with 1,005 yards rushing, Sagar was selected as the first team fullback. A 5-foot 11, 175-pound senior, Sagar was All-SCOL fullback and the Panthers' most valuable offensive back this season. He led the team in scoring with 76 points.

Reisinger, a 6-foot 1, 195-pound senior was named as the center for this year's district team. He was also the All-SCOL center and the most valuable offensive lineman for Miami Trace. Reisinger led the Panthers' offensive line in efficiency with a rating of over 86 per cent this season.

Cobb was one of only two juniors to earn first team berths in Class AAA. A six-foot, 185-pounder, Cobb was named at offensive tackle, but he also plays linebacker on defense. As a sophomore, he was honored as the All-SCOL defensive end and this year, he was named All-SCOL tackle and linebacker. He led the Panthers in individual tackles with 71 and assists with 50. In addition to knocking down three passes and sacking the quarterback 18 times, Cobb blocked one punt, caused a safety and recovered two fumbles.

Selected as a defensive tackle, Warnock was also a All-SCOL selection at the same position. Warnock, who is 6-foot 1 and weighs 195 pounds, was the recipient of the Miami Trace Coaches' Award. Noted for his aggressive ability on the pass rush, Warnock had 18 quarterback sacks and was credited with 36 pass rushes.

Dumford was a three-year letterman and was named as a All-SCOL linebacker for two years. Dumford, who is 5-foot 11 and weighs 181 pounds, also started at fullback for the past two seasons. In the three years Dumford has been at linebacker for the Lions, Washington has recorded a 23-7 overall mark. He led the team in tackles for the past two seasons, as he had 107 last year and 82 this season. In being rated at 72 per cent defensive efficiency, Dumford recovered three fumbles and intercepted four passes in the past two seasons.

At 5-foot 4 and 135 pounds, Sparkman was the smallest player to be selected to either team in any of the southeastern Ohio classes. A three-year letterman, the senior cornerback had 65 tackles and recovered two fumbles this season. His defensive rating for the Lions was 74 per cent and he picked up 210 defensive points. He was also the honorary captain of the All-SCOL defense this season.

Although it has not been determined whether a All-Ohio kicker will be named. Brown was chosen as the Class

AA kicker specialist. Picked as the All-SCOL kicker for the past two years, Brown is 6-foot 1 and weighs 181 pounds. As a three-year letterman and captain of the Lions this season, Brown punted for an average of 36.6 yards and his longest punt was for 53 yards. He was also the quarterback for the Lions as he completed 49 of 100 passes with seven interceptions for 810 yards. He threw eight touchdown passes and averaged over 16 yards per completion.

The two Fayette Countians named to second team positions were senior Phil Skinner and junior Brian Haines. Skinner was a defensive halfback for Miami Trace and Haines was a offensive guard for Court House.

Skinner, a 5-foot 10, 155-pound safety, won a first team berth on the All-SCOL squad and was the Panthers' most valuable defensive back. He broke up 16 passes and intercepted six this year.

Also serving as a middle guard on defense, Haines is 5-foot 9 and weighs 157 pounds. He led the Lions with four fumble recoveries and received a defensive rating of 83 per cent.

Five other players from the SCOL were named to the southeastern district team. Gary Barr, a defensive end from Greenfield, and Jeff Allen, a offensive tackle from Unioto, won first team berths in their respective classes. Offensive tackle Chuck Conley of Greenfield and Unioto's offensive guard Ed Matson and linebacker Pat Kerns were second team selections.

Mossbarger selected district's top lineman

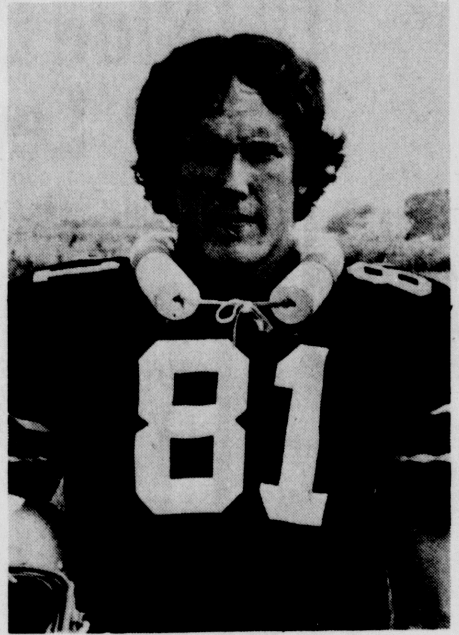

Years of hard work on the gridiron finally paid off for Miami Trace's Jay Mossbarger. Mossbarger, a senior tight end and defensive end, was selected by a panel of sports writers as the Associated Press lineman of the year on the Class AAA All-Southeastern Ohio district football team.

Mossbarger, who is 6-foot and weighs 180 pounds, repeated as this year's district defensive end. After winning district honors last year, he went on to become an All-Ohio honorable mention selection.

In 1973 and 1974, Mossbarger was a first team selection on the All-South Central Ohio League team. He was named as a tight end in 1973 and both as a tight end and defensive end in 1974. He was also this year's honorary captain on offense.

In winning the Panthers' most valuable defensive lineman award, Mossbarger led the team in defensive points with 233. He recorded 45 individual tackles, 44 assists, 29 pass rushes and 20 quarterback sacks. Regarded as one of the most knowledgeable performers on the field, Mossbarger caused four fumbles, recovered one fumble and knocked down four passes.

Miami Trace's tri-captain was equally as impressive on offense. As a tight end, Mossbarger finished fourth in total offense among the Panthers. He collected a total of 287 yards. He also recorded over 83 per cent efficiency in blocking on offense and he was the teams' third leading scorer with 28 points.

For the last two seasons, he has led the Panthers' in pass receiving. This season he caught 17 passes for 245 yards and last year, he grabbed 13 receptions for 338 yards.

With the loss of Mossbarger through graduation, coach Fred Zechman is faced with one of the biggest holes to fill on next year's team. After finishing with a 8-2 record this season, Zechman will have to fill two positions in Mossbarger's place.

Safety leads Chiefs to 42-34 triumph

DENVER (AP) — A seemingly harmless safety ballooned into a 19-point third quarter for Kansas City, boosting the Chiefs to a National Football League victory over Denver and wrecking the Broncos' playoff hopes.

The Chiefs' 42-34 triumph Monday night enabled Oakland to back into the American Conference West Division title and also spoiled a brilliant passing display by quarterback Charley Johnson of the Broncos. He completed 28 of 42 passes for a whopping 445 yards and two touchdowns.

It all started innocently enough on the second-half kickoff of the nationally televised game.

Denver's Oliver Ross fumbled the boot, giving the Chiefs the ball at the Broncos' 12-yard line. Kansas City's Woody Green coughed it up at the one, but two plays later Chiefs' middle linebacker Willie Lanier tackled Otis Armstrong in the end zone for the safety.

Denver still led 21-19 but Kansas City got good field position on the required free kick. The Chiefs promptly drove 49 yards in five plays, climaxed by Len Dawson's scrambling 35-yard TD pass to Otis Taylor.

As if that wasn't enough, Ed Podolak returned a punt 54 yards to the Broncos' 17 and Green ran it in for a 33-21 Chiefs' lead with less than five minutes gone in the period.

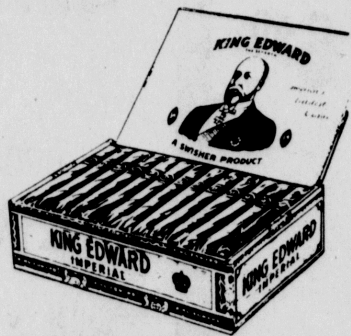

Jan Stenerud kicked a 35-yard field goal on the Chiefs' next possession to complete the scoring in the period.

"Losing momentum at the start of the second half is what really hurt us," Broncos' Coach John Ralston said. "We lost the ball, got it back, but then couldn't get it out of the end zone."

Tickets on sale

Reserve seat tickets for Miami Trace's nine home games are now on sale. Anyone interested should contact Glenn Marchal after 8 p.m. The tickets will cost $18 and the Panthers' first home game is this Saturday with Springfield Northeastern.

Schembechler keeps mum

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Bo Schembechler admits "there is plenty of incentive in Saturday's Michigan-Ohio State football showdown, but perhaps unbelievably he says it doesn't include bitterness over last year's Rose Bowl vote.

"You feel very strongly about that, but it doesn't have anything to do with this game," the Michigan coach said Monday at his regular news luncheon.

Schembechler fully expected his unbeaten Wolverines to go to the Rose Bowl last season as the Big Ten representative after they tied Ohio State 10-10 at Ann Arbor.

That gave the archrivals a co-championship but since the Buckeyes had gone to the bowl the year before, Michigan expected it would get the nod.

But conference athletic directors voted that OSU should go, and Schembechler was very vocal in his bitterness over that decision.

He didn't dwell on that Monday, preferring to speak mostly in generalizations about the upcoming battle.

Fines, jail sentences handed down in court

A local man and woman were found guilty of possession of an hallucinogen and a Cincinnati man was fined $200 for driving while intoxicated Monday in Municipal Court by acting Judge Omar Schwartz.

Billy Joe Vinion, 20, of 722 Peabody Ave., was fined $100 and had a six-month jail sentence suspended after he pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of marijuana.

A second case against Vinion charging him with assault on a private warrant was dismissed with the plaintiff paying court costs.

Mary Ann Robinson, 18, Washington Manor Court, was also charged with possession of an hallucinogen. She was fined $50 and had a three-month jail sentence suspended on condition of two years good conduct after pleading no contest to the charge.

Jeffrey A. Foster, 18, Cincinnati, was fined $200 and sentenced to three days in jail with his driver's license suspended for 30 days after he was found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol and - or drugs of abuse.

Another Cincinnati man was fined a total of $60 on two separate charges filed by the Ohio Highway Patrol and Washington C. H. police officers.

Dennis W. Stall, 21, was fined $35 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to comply with a patrolman's orders and $25 after he pleaded guilty to walking on the street in front of the city police station and interfering with traffic.

Three persons were charged and fined for passing bad checks. David R. Harris, 23, Xenia, was fined $25 when he pleaded no contest to a charge of issuing a check with a closed account to Buckeye Mart.

Bernice Hatton, 34, of 5328 U.S. 35 NW, was fined $25 and received a suspended three-month jail sentence on condition of two years good conduct for passing a bad check at Krogers.

And Patricia L. Rhoades, 23, Leesburg, was fined $25 and also received a three-month suspended sentence after pleading guilty to passing a bad check at Krogers.

Frances Irene Queen, 52, of 520 Third St., pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct by intoxication and was fined $20.

John M. Swain, 21, Columbus, was fined $20 after pleading guilty to a charge of speeding.

Six business matters eyed by Kiwanis board

Six matters were handled by the Washington C. H. Kiwanis Club's board of directors at the regular monthly meeting held Monday night in the Lafayette Inn.

Club president Guy M. Foster said the board considered the best way to schedule programs without conflicts in dates; donated $25 to the Miami Trace chapter of the American Field Service program; heard a report that a Key Club state representative will meet with the club to discuss reviving the Fayette County Key Club; discussed as a possible project a pancake day and appointed Ron Lott as chairman to check into possibilities; and welcomed Jim Teeters into the club as its newest member. Last Wednesday, Teeters was inducted into the Kiwanis Club with 85 other members by Kiwanis International president Roy Davis when he visited the Ohio district meeting in Columbus.

In other matters, Roger Kirkpatrick was presented a three-year perfect attendance pin by Bill Still, and bills totaling $787.03 were approved for payment.

Four members of the Columbus Downtown Kiwanis Club met with the Washington C. H. club Monday night.

In closing, Foster announced that next Monday night the club would be attending the Thanksgiving music program presented by the Miami Trace Folksingers in Grace United Methodist Church.

Note lake erosion

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The high level of Lake Erie has not changed the pattern of soil erosion but has increased its rate, according to a Kent State University geologist.

Geologist Andrew Vidra testified Monday at a hearing on water levels in the Great Lakes sponsored by the International Joint Commission of the United States and Canada.

Vidra said that erosion would occur over a period of several years regardless of the lake levels as the rain washed away the sandy top layer of soil.

9-year-old helps police cleanliness

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Richie Parks was late for work the other day and ran smack into his boss, Col. Tom Schwartz, chief of the Boone County police department.

"Hey," Schwartz said, "you're four minutes late for work. What kept you?" "I had to stop and tie my shoe," Parks replied.

Schwartz accepted that excuse. After all, sometimes it takes awhile for a 9-year-old to make a bow.

Richie Parks recently became a part-time employee for the department after walking into headquarters one day and asking if there was anything for him to do.

He said he wanted to earn money to go skating and buy Christmas presents. The third-grade student at Burlington Elementary School has been put to work doing what the police call "general office cleanup" and the police chief pays him out of his own pocket.

The boy shows up at 4 p.m. two days a week, does an hour's work and gets 50 cents for his efforts.

Archbishop eyed as church leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fast-rising church diplomat, Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardine of Cincinnati, is considered the leading contender for election as president of U.S. Roman Catholic bishops.

Assembly leadership fight set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Supporters of Sen. Oliver Ocasek for Senate majority leader may move today to bring together a Democratic caucus in a way that would be unprecedented—at least in recent history.

They reportedly plan to join in issuing a call for Democrats to meet on Thursday or Friday of this week, rather than wait for the call of their present leader, Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland.

By tradition, the ranking members of each party in the Senate and House issue the call for an organizational meeting after candidates are elected in November.

House Republicans, at the bidding of veteran Rep. Ethel G. Swanbeck, R-72 Huron, did so Monday. They re-elected Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-73 Perrysburg, to his second term as minority leader. The onetime GOP speaker was unopposed.

Likewise, the upcoming caucus of Senate Republicans—yet to be scheduled—figures to produce few if any fireworks. The only announced candidate for minority leader there is Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati.

But with Calabrese, as well as Speaker A.G. Lanciaione, D-99 Bellaire, in the House, matters will be different. They both face perhaps unbeatable challenges from the men now serving as their assistants.

The retiring Senate majority leader,

Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, will call the Senate GOP caucus, while it is up to Calabrese and Lanciaione, as deans of their chambers, to do likewise.

Lanciaione and Calabrese, sensing defeat, are not anxious.

As a result, Ocasek's Senate backers decided Monday they should take the apparently unprecedented step of bringing themselves together to elect their man. "It probably will be Thursday or Friday," said an Ocasek supporter who asked that his name not be used "at least at this time."

The same senator said Ocasek has at least 14 votes in the 21-member Democratic contingent which will take control of the Senate starting Jan. 6 for the first time since 1959.

Ocasek, 49, is a veteran of 16 years in the Senate and an associate professor at the University of Akron. If he becomes leader, he said, he will take a leave of absence to make his lawmaking job a full time venture.

Calabrese, 67, has been in the Senate for 18 years, and before that was a member of the House for four years. Much of his clout now is gone, since one of his biggest backers, Frank W. King, has been ousted as president of the Ohio AFL-CIO. Calabrese succeeded King as Democratic leader in the Senate where King formerly served.

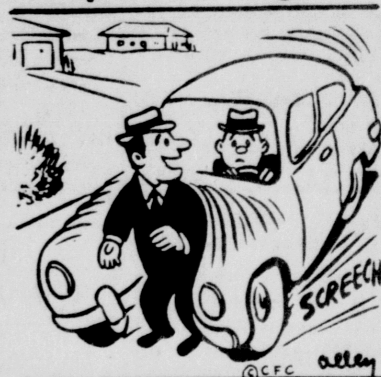

In the House, Lanciaione is challenged by his top lieutenant, Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D—89 New Boston, the current speaker pro tem.

A move to replace the 67-year-old Lanciaione with Riffe, 49, was started in late summer by supporters who now claim to have a surplus of votes to pull off their revolt. Rumors abound that the speaker might resign from the legislature if removed from his leadership post. He refuses to confirm or deny them.

Kurfess, who was speaker three terms until his party lost control of the House in 1972, was re-elected by the 40 Republicans in the chamber following glowing accolades from them.

Money Matters

By David C. Six

Actually, Only 4 Kinds of Life Insurance . . .

1. - STRAIGHT LIFE - Protection for a life time. Same premiums each and every year. Policy builds an increasing cash value.

2. - LIMITED PAYMENT LIFE - Same as STRAIGHT LIFE, except premium payments, while higher monthly, are limited for a specific number of years. Cash value increases faster.

3. - ENDOWMENT LIFE - The insured obtains a specific sum of money on a certain date. In the meantime there is insurance protection for the full amount of the policy in the event of death happening at anytime before the end of the policy period.

4. - TERM INSURANCE - Protection is provided for a given period of time only. Some policies are renewable at the end of the term. Not usually available after age 65. Most such policies do not accumulate cash values.

To meet different needs there seems to be an almost endless number of variations and combinations of insurance. You need it, and there IS a plan available that is for YOUR best needs!

Don't forget. . . Santa is coming to Washington Court House on Sunday, November 24 at 2:00 p.m.

Good Luck to Richard Hooks and Dan Mazza as new managers of the Washington Inn Restaurant.

It is NOT Bank business to be in the insurance business, and that is true at our Bank, your friendly First National Bank of Washington Court House. However, we do know our way around in the field, inasmuch as our training and experience has been in every aspect of money matters. Our best advice, when it comes to insurance, is to talk with an experienced, competent insurance broker.

Opening lead - king of hearts.

Point count is often just as helpful during the play as it is during the bidding. Here is a case where East made an intelligent use of point count to defeat three notrump.

West led the K-Q-J of hearts, East playing the 4-3-8 in that order. Declarer won the jack with the ace, led the queen of spades and finessed.

East took the king and returned a spade, intentionally not cashing his last heart. He was trying to sell declarer the idea that West had the missing five of hearts.

South had eight sure tricks at this point, and had to decide which way to take the two-way club finesse for his ninth trick. Firmly convinced by the play that West had the missing heart, he won the spade return with the jack, played the jack of clubs and finessed. This method of play would have succeeded, even if the finesse lost, had West held the thirteenth heart.

But East showed up with the queen of clubs, as well as the missing heart, and South went down one. True, he might have gone down one anyhow, had East cashed his heart earlier, but East's subtle defense virtually forced South to misguess the club finesse.

East's play was well founded. He knew, after West had shown up with the K-Q-J of hearts, that South had every missing high card for his 16 to 18 point notrump. West had 6 points, dummy 10 and East 8 — thus accounting for 24 points — and this left South with 16 points which necessarily included the A-J of clubs.

East realized that if he failed to cash his heart at trick five South might take the club finesse through West to "insure" the contract. This was extremely high-class thinking on East's part — and it paid off very well.

Youth Activities

VCI
 On Saturday November 9, 1974 at 8:00 p.m. The Mobile Home Class Vocational Industrial Clubs sponsored a Battle of the Bands at the Laurel Oaks Campus auditorium. There were three bands that participated in the concert. They were 'April Fools' from Hillsboro High School, 'The Pegasus' from Miami Trace High School, and 'The Huh' from Greenfield High School. The winner of the three bands was the 'Pegasus' from Miami Trace High School. Refreshments were served all through the concert. All in the all everybody had a great time. The Mobile Home class wishes to thank everyone who made this concert a success.

Steamboat launching set Nov. 30

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Delta Queen Steamboat Co. will launch the first traditional sternwheeler built in the United States in half a century on Nov. 30, the 139th birthday of Mark Twain.

The $17-million, all steel passenger carrier will be a sistership to the firm's Delta Queen, the last overnight passenger carrier plying the Ohio, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri rivers.

The yet unnamed steamer will be launched at Jeffersonville, Ind. into the Ohio River. Officials said about 14 more months work will be required at the Jeffboat Shipyards where two more decks will be installed and finishing work will be completed.

The firm said the 379-foot long vessel will be of traditional design but with modern conveniences. It will also be fireproof.

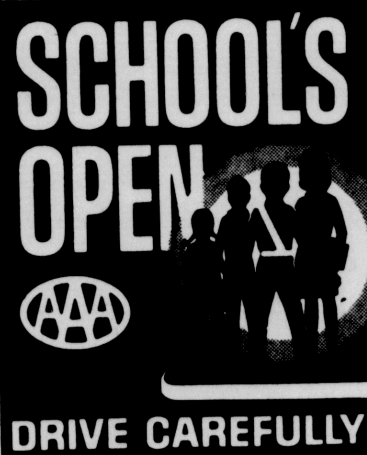

It will be propelled by two 2,000-horsepower, cross-compound engines. Modern facilities for the 400-passenger boat will include a complete on-board communications system, swimming pool, elevators, theater and sauna.

The Delta Queen was the subject of a two-year campaign to win exemption from the Safety At Sea Act in Congress. The current steamer's superstructure is basically wood, and, although many fireproofing systems were installed, was in violation of the act.

2 persons killed as trucks collide

DOYLESTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Russell S. Holler, 79, of Akron and Nicholas Keller, 47, of Manchester, an Akron suburb, died Monday night when their pickup collided with another pickup on Ohio 585 near here, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported today.

The driver of the other truck, George S. Spearman, 51, of Wooster, was listed in fair condition in a Barberton hospital, officers said.

"What can I do to improve my pictures?" How many times do we hear that question? Obviously people are concerned about picture quality or they wouldn't bring up the question so often. People do want better pictures. To be honest, I think the first place to look for better pix is the processing lab. I kid you not, some of these processing labs can really goof up the best photographic efforts. The best place to send Kodak color film for processing is, quite obviously, the Kodak processing lab. GAF film should go to a GAF lab., just as Agfachrome should go back home for development.

At Pensyl Camera Shop we are concerned that you get the best results from your photographic efforts, and that's why we keep insisting that your films should go to the proper lab. We know where they should go, and if you leave your films with us we'll see that they get to the right place.

Many of the labs, these days, are featuring photographic Christmas cards. This year that might be something for you to think about. Give it some thought and drop in and look over the samples.

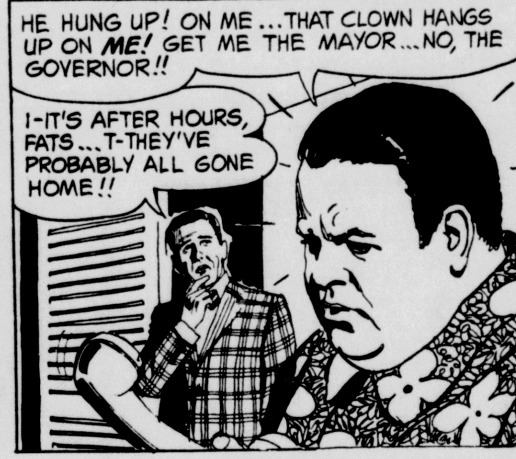

Is there a camera bug on your list this Christmas? Last week we were on the subject of monopods and, you know what, a monopod might just be the answer to your Christmas shopping problem. Or maybe a tripod, or a gadget bag, or an electronic flash — see what I mean? We're full of good ideas. Drop in Pensyl Camera Shop, and in case you're new in town, that's at 231 E. Court Street.

Hemorrhoids Don't Mean Cancer

Are there different types of hemorrhoids? Does bleeding from one type mean that cancer may develop?

Miss B.J., Tex.

Dear Miss J.:
 It is surprising that despite constant reassurance many readers still express anxiety about relatively insignificant conditions.

So many readers seem to be dominated by the fear of cancer and they relate that fear to any condition that may arise.

Hemorrhoids ("piles") are painful, tender swellings of the veins around the opening of the rectum. When they become enlarged and inflamed the distress can be marked.

Hemorrhoids are of two types: the external, or outer ones, are small rounded, bluish enlargements. They are noticeable when an individual strains during a bowel movement. Painful spasm, burning, itching and bleeding may occur.

Internal hemorrhoids differ only by their location, but the symptoms are similar. Examination quickly reveals their location.

Both types are associated with long-standing constipation or rectal disease. Pregnancy can sometimes produce temporary hemorrhoids.

Many people delay seeking advice from their physicians because they are terrified by their misconception that rectal bleeding always indicates incurable cancer.

This false notion does a great injustice to those who could benefit from a simple examination and local treatment. Assurance can alleviate these unfounded fears.

Certainly, any persistent bleeding must be studied to determine its exact cause.

Is it safe to use penicillin tablets that have been lying on the shelf for a long time?

Mrs. E.L.B., Va.

Dear Mrs. B.:
 Physicians usually prescribe enough drugs to carry one through a period of infection.

It is rare that more than a few tablets or capsules remain unused. Even if a few do remain the likelihood is that if another infection occurs a renewed prescription will be necessary. It therefore serves no function to save one or two doses of penicillin to use after a long period of time.

The shelf life of drugs varies.

Coal negotiations may be reopened

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller may have to reopen negotiations with coal industry representatives before he can sell a proposed new contract to his striking union.

Little progress was reported Monday in the UMW's efforts to achieve ratification of the tentative agreement reached last week. A union source said Miller might have to return to the bargaining table with the coal industry to win some modifications in the proposal before it can receive approval of the union's bargaining council.

Industry spokesmen have indicated that such bargaining would only be to consider a possible redistribution of benefits, not a fattening of the overall contract.

Meanwhile, the strike by the 120,000 UMW members, affecting mines producing 70 per cent of the nation's soft coal, entered its second week today.

Discussion of the proposed three-year contract by the bargaining council was scheduled to resume today after a three-day recess because of the apparently unrelated slaying last Friday of a UMW official.

The bargaining council must approve the contract proposal before it can be submitted to the union members. But union officials indicated there is serious disagreement among the council over some sections.

It seemed virtually certain the strike would extend another two weeks, since UMW officials say it will take another eight to 10 days to get the contract ratified once it is approved by the bargaining council.

The strike already has idled more than 15,000 workers in the railroad and steel industries. And government economists claim it lasts as long as four weeks, it will cause major disruptions to the nation's economy, resulting in as many as 400,000 layoffs.

The nation's two largest steel producers announced steps Monday to cut production.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steelmaker, said it would start shutting down entire plants if miners do not return to work by Dec. 1. Bethlehem Steel Corp., the No. 2 producer, said it is banking four coke batteries at its Sparrows Point, Md., plant and laying off 175 of its employees there.

Two sections that may have to be renegotiated by Miller concern wages and vacations, union sources said.

The proposed contract would provide wage increases totaling 15 per cent over three years as well as cost-of-living increases. However, some union officials were reportedly unhappy with the formula that would give miners a 9 per cent increase the first year and 3 per cent each succeeding year.

Sources said many council members also balked at a proposal to require miners to take one week's vacation in the summer and the other at Christmas time. These officials feel that miners should have the right to take both weeks back-to-back, the sources said.

Committee set to vote for Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight of the nine members of the Senate Rules Committee have indicated they intend to recommend that the Senate confirm Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president.

The committee ended its hearings Monday and is expected to vote by the end of the week.

Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said the panel will meet in executive session Wednesday to discuss its recommendation. The House Judiciary Committee begins its hearings on the nomination on Thursday.

Of the Senate committee's four Republicans and five Democrats, only Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., said he had not made up his mind how to vote.

Allen said his indecision was based on philosophical questions rather than any qualms about Rockefeller's ethics.

"The only thing holding me back is my disapproval of his big government philosophy: tax and spend," Allen said.

Cannon and Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said they expect to give Rockefeller the benefit of any doubts they have and will vote to recommend confirmation.

Cannon said the committee probably would not be able to issue its written report before next Tuesday. That timing probably would make it almost impossible for the full Senate to act before leaving on its brief Thanksgiving recess.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had said he would try to get a vote in the Senate next week if the committee reported the nomination this week.

Rockefeller again will be the leadoff witness when the House Judiciary Committee opens its hearings.

Claim payoffs made to police by night club

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)— Samuel Harris, 28, former night club operator who said Monday he gave $2,000 in payoffs to Newport policemen, is scheduled to resume testimony in U.S. District Court today.

Harris, the chief government witness against three Newport officers, is now serving a federal prison term on a stolen check conviction.

Judge Mac Swinford Monday ruled against a prosecution attempt to play video tapes and tape recordings of alleged payoffs before the jury. The jurist said the quality of the recordings was too poor to be used as evidence.

Charged with extortion are Asst. Chief Donald Faulkner, Capt. William Wells, and Ptl. Jerry McClanahan. The latter are also charged with perjury.

Butz endorses fertilizer plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has given mild endorsement to proposals for making more fertilizer available to produce food by cutting back on its use on lawns and golf courses.

Democratic governors eye economy

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Democratic governors, after taking a step they hope will prevent another clash between regular and reform factions in the party, turned their attention today to the economic headaches of inflation, unemployment and energy.

Several resolutions were expected to be introduced during this final day of the Democratic governors meeting, urging Congress to take immediate steps rather than waiting until next year.

The governors unanimously endorsed on Monday compromise language in a key provision of a proposed party charter that would govern most aspects of party procedure beginning in 1977. The move was the first concrete indication that they will use their increased numbers to expand their role in party affairs.

The disputed language centers on the selection of delegates to the national nominating conventions. The move taken by the governors would encourage participation by women, racial minorities and youth but eliminate the so-called quota system. The wording would also make it more difficult to change the party constitution in future years.

The action came at a private luncheon after several governors had warned that the party's image could suffer if there were a bloodbath at the Kansas City mini-convention next month.
